COSMIC SHIPS

CHAPTER 1

Cosmic Ships

It was back in the year 1950 when we spoke for the first time about flying saucers. In that year, we stated emphatically that those flying saucers were really cosmic ships crewed by inhabitants from other planets.

At that time, many people laughed at our statements but today events have proven us right. In the United States there is a scientific department dedicated exclusively to investigation of these cosmic ships.

The Law of Accidents extends to these ships as well, and several of the them have crashed or violently exploded in air. The United States has in its possession the remains of some of those ships.

We do not intend to prove in this pamphlet the reality of interplanetary ships because that reality has already been totally proven. We now only want to expand on information we gave humanity in the year 1950, in the first edition of The Perfect Matrimony.

Cosmic ships have their history and their traditions. Really, these ships were created by angels, archangels, seraphim, etc., that possess bodies of flesh and bone. Many cosmic traditions mention Saint Venoma and his cosmic navigation system.

Saint Venoma is an angel with a body of flesh and bone. Saint Venoma was born on the planet Soort, where he dedicated himself to investigating the Law of Falling. Here we have, dear reader, the formulation Saint Venoma himself gave about this cosmic law:

“Everything existing in the World falls to the bottom. And the bottom for any part of the Universe is its nearest “stability,” and this said “stability” is the place or the point upon which all the lines of force arriving from all directions converge.

“The centers of all the suns and of all the planets of our Universe are just such points of “stability.” They are the lowest points of those regions of space upon which forces from all directions of the given part of the Universe definitely tend and where they are concentrated. In these points there is also concentrated the equilibrium which enables suns and planets to maintain their position.’

In stating his principle, Saint Venoma also said “that everything when dropped into space, wherever it may be, tends to fall on one or another sun or on one or another planet, according to which sun or planet the given part of space belongs to, where the object is dropped, each sun or planet being for the given sphere the ‘stability’ or bottom.”

Saint Venoma, after profound investigations, knew how to employ this cosmic particularity for the locomotion of cosmic ships. The cosmic ships designed by Saint Venoma were based on the Law of Falling.

The only serious problem was that of planetary atmospheres; they don't allow objects in space to fall in straight lines. Saint Venoma managed to resolve that problem easily, and built wonderful cosmic ships.

In this small pamphlet, we do not intend to deeply explain the entire mechanism of these ships because, in addition to being quite complicated, it would be tiresome for the reader. The Commission of Inspection, directed by Archangel Adossia, blessed and approved Saint Venoma's works.

Saint Venoma's ships moved with the magnetic force of the worlds, and they were very fast. However, the most serious problem occurred when the ships approached any planet or sun in space. It then took difficult maneuvers to avoid a catastrophe. Few were the angelic men who could handle those ships.

It was very difficult to steer Saint Venoma's ships, and every day more and more technicians were needed to pilot those ships. However, Saint Venoma's system was a technical revolution in its time and completely displaced other systems.

After many years of cosmic activity, Saint Venoma's system was displaced by the revolutionary system of Archangel Hariton. This archangel is a Man in the fullest sense of the word, and he has a body of flesh and blood like any person.

Mr. Hariton's wonderful works were supervised by a great sage known throughout the cosmos by the name of Adosia. This sage is also a gentleman who's already acquired the degree of Archangel.

Modern cosmic ships are based on Archangel Hariton's works. All the technical functionalisms of said ships are carried out based on perpetual movement.

This is not a mechanical text, and neither are we mechanics; that is why we are refraining from describing all the mechanics of cosmic ships.

Millions of cosmic ships travel through infinite cosmic space, as numerous as the sands of the sea. The interplanetary ships are gigantic, and carry within their giant bellies small vessels used for descending to the planets.

This is similar to the great ships that carry on board small boats used for going ashore. Any mature humanity in the cosmos has a full right to receive cosmic ships.

Normally, the elder brothers help the younger ones, and when a humanity reaches our age, they are visited by other planetary humanities who initiate them to cosmic journeys and, in addition to giving them some of these ships, teach them how to build them.

In the times of Atlantis, cosmic ships usually landed at airports of the city of Samlios. Back then, inhabitants of other planets visited the kings, and lived with them in their palaces.

When mankind became morally corrupt, the sister humanities of other planets stopped visiting us.

In this time of bankruptcy of all spiritual values, we will again be helped by our brothers from other worlds. We need extra help because we are failures on the verge of a great cataclysm.

Earthly humanity has reached the height of its corruption, and the help of our elder brothers has become urgent. Several inhabitants of Earth have already been taken for a ride to other planets of infinite space.

In the Republic of Mexico two men were taken to Venus, one resident from Jalisco and the other from the capital city of the country. In the following chapter we will talk about the latter.

We know that in Brazil there is another man who was taken to Mars. There is no doubt that we will all be able to visit the other planets in space. We are on the eve of a great cosmic cataclysm, and we will be warned before the great catastrophe.

The sister humanities of other planets will try to save us, and will officially enter our main cities, and announce the danger that awaits us. But if we continue with atomic explosions and vices, and all sorts of evils and wars, the catastrophe will be inevitable.

It is good to know that a group of Tibetan Lamas already have a few of those cosmic ships. They received them from our brothers from other planets, and they have them very well guarded in a certain secret place of the Himalayas.

Some citizens from other planets now walk the streets of our cities; they dress as civilians and nobody recognizes them. They study our languages, traditions, and customs with the purpose of helping us.

We are going to be helped on a large scale. We urgently need that help because we are total failures. Many cosmic ships are landing now in the jungle of Brazil, in the south of Argentina, etc., and in some other places where they have secret airports.

Some of these cosmic crew members often stay among us. Those who believe that humanities visiting from other planets are trying to destroy us are mistaken. Those who suppose that our visiting brothers are perverse are mistaken.

It is clear that they have weapons with which they can paralyze man and machine. It is logical that they are invulnerable because they are well armed and protected.

If they wanted to rule over this world, they would do so in seconds because they have special weapons to do it; they could also destroy this planet and blow it up but, really, this is not what they want. They are not destructive, they respect life; they are not the perverse earthlings.

Our visiting brothers only want to help us, and each and every one of the inhabitants of Earth must prepare to receive them. At present, they live in all the great cities of the world, inhabitants of Mars, Venus, Mercury, etc.; they study our languages and customs for the purpose of helping us.

Cosmic ships land in remote places, and sometimes leave some crew members from other planets who, dressed as civilians, travel through the streets of New York, Paris, London, etc., without anyone knowing them because they are very similar to us in their appearances, even though many of them are much more beautiful and perfect.

The fantasies of many authors who imagine that the inhabitants of other planets have a different form from that of human being's on Earth are absurd. The physical features and forms of the physical body of all men in the cosmos are always similar.

CHAPTER 2

A Mexican on the Planet Venus

Here in Mexico City, we know a man who was on the planet Venus. We are honored to have visited him.

One night in winter we arrived at the doors of his house. We were lucky enough to be welcomed by him. The family was watching television, but they very kindly turned off the television, and left us alone with him in his living room.

He is a very sincere and kind man. He is not an occultist or spiritualist or anything like that. He does not presume to be wise, and in spite of having lived the most extraordinary cosmic adventure, he really has no pride at all.

In this simple pamphlet, we do not intend to narrate in detail what happened to this man; we only want to speak in synthesis, and that is all. In the month of August 1953, this man himself was on the planet Venus. His name is Salvador Villanueva Medina.

The event occurred when he least expected it. He was driving a rented car with a couple of Americans, heading to the United States through Mexican territory along the Laredo highway.

He had been driving 484 kilometers when the car broke down. The Americans abandoned the car and went in search of a tow truck to take the car to the nearest town for repairs.

This was the beginning of the adventure. Salvador got under the car to try to repair it. Suddenly he heard footsteps in the stones on the road, and someone asked him in perfect Spanish what was wrong with the car. Salvador kept silent and when he got out from under the spot where the car was, he found himself in front of a strangely-dressed man who was about one meter and twenty centimeters tall.

The body of this man was of extraordinary perfection, white as ermine and all together full of beauty. What most attracted Salvador's attention was the strange uniform and mysterious shining belt.

The man had long hair, and wore a very special metallic helmet. Really, they exchanged few words in that moment. The strange character politely said goodbye, and then walked into the mountains.

The most interesting thing came later, when Salvador was asleep. A few loud knocks on the window of his car woke him up with a start. Without thinking much about it, Salvador opened the door of his car, and his surprise was great when he saw the same character again, accompanied by another who looked like him and wore the same suit. Salvador invited them into his car, and then tried to help them close the door but when he stretched his right arm over them to do so, he felt an electric current that momentarily paralyzed his arm.

The conversation in the car was wonderful. They expressed to Salvador that they came from the planet Venus. In the beginning, Salvador didn't believe them and even became indignant, believing these gentlemen were making fun of him. Salvador even stated that only the planet Earth could have inhabitants; he said he had learned this from statements made by wise men of Earth, etc.

"What makes you think such a thing?" they asked him. "What about the deficient means they have for their calculations? Don't you think it's quite pretentious to believe you are the only beings that populate the universe?"

These words seemed very strange to Salvador, as did the color of those white faces, their expressive eyes, strange voices, strange helmets, mysterious belts, etc.; it made him think a lot.

It would take a long time to relay the whole conversation Salvador had with those Venusians. They told him how life was on Venus, how they lived, what they ate, how their cities and streets were, etc.

Also, they removed doubts from him by explaining they could convert the harmful into the beneficial, and artificially form their climate, environment, etc. Under those conditions, if Venus were uninhabitable, they would make it inhabitable because their scientific progress allowed for it. However, it's clear that Venus is perfectly habitable.

It was already dawn, and the Venusians very kindly invited Salvador to accompany them to the planet Venus. Salvador got out of the car after these mysterious men, and sure enough after a short while of walking through the mountains, Salvador stopped in front of the majestic ship.

This was a majestic and imposing flattened sphere supported by three buoys forming a triangle. Salvador says the whole thing was awe-inspiring, and gave the impression of being a huge fortress.

Salvador boarded the ship, the doors were closed, and the ship left for the planet Venus. Everything Salvador saw on Venus was extraordinary. Venusian civilization is formidable.

On Venus, civilization has reached the peak. There you don't need money. Every citizen works two hours a day and, in return, he has the right to everything the human being needs for life: transportation, food, clothing, vacations, science, etc. Everything belongs to everybody; if someone needs a car, he takes it, uses it, and then leaves it in its parking place. If he is hungry, he eats at any hotel and has nothing to pay because, since he is working, he is entitled to everything. If he needs clothes, he asks for them in a store, and doesn't pay anything because, since he works, he has the right to dress, etc., etc.

On the planet Venus, cars move with solar energy. The main food is taken from the sea. Gardens are on the roofs of houses and buildings. On Venus, fish and fruits are the basic food. On Venus, there is no government or homeland; the whole planet is the homeland, and only wise men lead and advise.

I asked Salvador about the issue of religion, and the answer was that on Venus there are no religions, and every citizen behaves on the street as if he were in a temple. Every person on Venus considers that the temple is within us.

The footpaths or sidewalks of the city streets of Venus are not stationary; they are formed with metallic bands that are in movement, and save the pedestrians effort. The roadway of the streets, that is to say, the center of the streets, have metallic bands that collect the force of the sun that moves the cars.

On Venus, everything belongs to everyone, and the whole Venusian family is one big family. Children are born in special maternity rooms, and are educated and raised in collective homes. When a child is born, he is marked on one foot. That mark indicates his origin and faculties; accordingly, the child is educated in the collective home. When he comes of age, he takes his rightful place in society.

Under these conditions, the particular family does not exist; everyone on Venus is one single family. There are no famines, war, or social classes. Only wisdom and love reign there.

Salvador Villanueva Medina lived on Venus for several days. On that planet he found two French residents, twin brothers and veterans of the Second World War. They were also transported to Venus, and later begged and cried to the Venusians to not bring them back to Earth; they live there happily.

Salvador came back to the planet Earth; he was brought back to let the inhabitants of Earth know Venus is inhabited.

Phillips Laboratories analyzed the earth and plants in the place where Salvador pinpointed the cosmic ship, and found a very strange molecular and atomic disorder. George Adamski, the North American scientist who met some Venusians in the Nevada desert, also contacted Salvador, and gave a lecture on this subject at the Theater of the Insurgents in Mexico City.

Great German scientists investigated the land where Salvador found the cosmic ship, and the result of their investigations was the same as that of Phillips. A great scientist came from the palace of the kings of England to investigate the case, and the conclusions were the same as the Phillips company.

For these difficult times in which we live, we will be helped by the inhabitants of other planets. It is necessary to learn to communicate telepathically with them. Jesus said, "Ask, and it will be given to you; ... knock, and it will be opened to you." (Matt 7:7) We can all visit other planets if we know how to ask.

Gnostics must develop telepathy. Gnostics should go out to the fields, to the deepest forests, and there, in peace and deep meditation, communicate telepathically with the Venusians, or Mercurians, or Martians, and beg them to be taken to Venus, Mars, or Mercury.

On any day, in the peace of the mountains or on a secluded beach, we can have the happiness Salvador Villanueva Medina had. Each of us can be taken to Venus or other planets. The system for communicating with these angelic Men is telepathy. The Universal Christian Gnostic Movement has formidable systems to develop telepathy.

Whoever wants to visit other worlds should not drink, smoke, or have any vice. Our international Gnostic missionary, Joaquín Amortegui, was visited by an interplanetary ship during his retreat at the Summum Supremum Sanctuarium.

The thought waves of any supplicant travel to the planet Venus in a few seconds, and if we are worthy and deserving, we can receive an answer.

One day, in the solitude of the countryside, we may have the joy of seeing a cosmic ship land near us, and then we can be taken away. Mercurians, Martians, etc., are true Men with bodies of flesh and blood, Men with angelic Souls, angelic Men.

CHAPTER 3

The Pluralized "I"

There is energy free in its movement, and stagnant energy. The "I" is a knot that must be untied. The "I" is stagnant energy. The Universal Spirit of Life is energy free in its movement. The Spirit is not the "I". The Soul is not the "I". The physical body is not the "I".

It's necessary to know that the "I" is the Satan of which the Bible speaks to us. The "I" is the Persian Ahriman. The "I" is a bunch of memories, desires, passions, cravings, fears, etc. There is no such thing as superior "I". Truly, our real Being is above every "I". Our real Being is the Being, and nothing more than that, the Being.

The Soul is the Being, the Spirit is the Being, but the "I" is neither Soul nor Spirit. The "I" is the devil, and that's all. The "I" exists in pluralized form; by this we mean that the "I" is a legion of devils.

As water is composed of many drops, as a flame has many sparks, so too is the "I" composed of many little "I's".

Every desire is personified by a small "I". Every craving is personified by another little "I". The seven deadly sins are personified by seven “I’s”, one for each deadly sin, seven for the seven deadly sins.

All vices, passions, and evils are personified by little “I’s”, which together constitute the reincarnating ego. What reincarnates is the “I”; the “I” reincarnates to satisfy desires and pay karma. The “I” is the origin of pain, the “I” is the origin of all our evils.

When the “I” is reduced to dust, all that remains within us is the Soul. Truly, the Soul’s nature is happiness. The Soul is happiness. It is absolutely absurd to seek happiness. It comes when the “I” has died. As long as the pluralized “I” exists, there can be no happiness.

There are pleasant times in life, joys, but happiness does not exist until the “I” is dissolved.

When the “I” is reduced to dust we can reincarnate on other more advanced planets to work on our inner self-realization. Dissolution of the “I” brings true freedom.

Venusians are truly happy because they have annihilated the “I”, they don’t have the “I”.

Venusians do not need money because they don’t crave accumulation, they don’t crave anything, they are not greedy, they are content with their daily bread. A similar consciousness is characteristic of beings who no longer have the “I”.

On Venus you do not need authorities because there is no violence. Only the “I” is violent. On Venus, you do not need government because each citizen knows how to govern himself. When the "I" has been annihilated, each citizen becomes a government in himself. Who would want to govern then?

On Venus there is no particular family. All Venusians are one single family; this is only possible because they have annihilated the horrible pluralized "I". The "I" is that which we call my family, my house, my properties, my lust, my resentful wishes, my desires, my passions, my memories, etc., etc.

The "I" continues in our descendants. The "I" is the race, the nation, my social class, my money, my family, my heritage, etc., etc. The "I" is the subconscious. When the "I" is annihilated, the subconscious becomes conscious.

We need to annihilate the "I" in order to make the subconscious conscious. Only by annihilating the "I" can we make the subconscious conscious. When the subconscious becomes conscious, the problem of unfolding is resolved.

When the subconscious becomes conscious we no longer need to worry about unfolding because, while the physical body sleeps, we live in the internal worlds absolutely conscious.

Today humanity is ninety-seven percent subconscious and only three percent conscious. We need to be one hundred percent conscious. The inhabitants of Venus are totally one hundred percent conscious. The humanity of Venus annihilated the "I".

Really, the “I” can only be annihilated on the basis of rigorous creative comprehension. We need to self-dissect the “I” with the scalpel of self-criticism. Instead of criticizing others, we must criticize ourselves. Practical life is the full-length mirror in which we can see ourselves just as we are.

Living with others, when the mind is in a state of alert-perception, we can easily discover our defects because they emerge spontaneously.

In relation to our neighbors, friends, co-workers, wife, children, husband, etc., it is amazing how our defects stand out, and if we are as alert and vigilant as a sentry in wartime, it is only logical that we then see them as they are.

When we are in the state of alert-perception there is self-discovery in coexistence. Every defect discovered must be analyzed intellectually but the intellect is not everything; the intellect is only a fraction of the mind.

We need to go deeper; we need to explore the subconscious to discover the intimate triggers of our defects. Only through very deep meditation can we truly explore the subconscious.

When we have completely comprehended a defect, the energetic “I” that personifies it disintegrates. This is how we continue dying from instant to instant.

We need mystical death. We need the death of the “I”. Let’s remember that each of us carries within us a legion of devils. The “I” is a legion of devils. Within each person exists the body of desire, and within the body of desire, the pluralized "I".

The pluralized "I" wretchedly wears out the essence, that is, the raw material, the substance of the Soul. The "I" exhausts the precious psychic essence in atomic explosions of anger, greed, lust, pride, laziness, gluttony, etc.

When the "I" has died, the essence accumulates and becomes Soul. We need the ego to die; we need only that which is happiness to live in us, that which we call Soul. When the "I" dies, karma ends and, in fact, we remain free.

Intimate contradictions of each person are due to the pluralized "I". "I'm going to read a newspaper," says the "I" of the intellectual center; "I don't want to read, I want to ride a bicycle," says the "I" of the movement center.

"I want that woman, I love her," says the center of emotions; "I don't want her, I want money," says the "I" of the mental center; "To hell with these worries, I'm going to eat," says the "I" of digestion; "I want to eat a lot," says the "I" of greed.

"I swear to be faithful to Gnosis," says the emotional "I"; "To hell with Gnosis," furiously says the intellectual "I"; "It's better to get money," says the "I" of greed; "I will affiliate myself with another school that's better than Gnosis," says the "I" of curiosity.

This is why we don't have individuality; we are not individualized, we are a legion of devils. When the "I" is dissolved, only individuality remains within us, that is, the individual Soul.

Venusians are truly sacred individuals. They do not have the "I". Venusians are truly perfect Men. We earthlings are intellectual animals; we have no true individuality.

We have seen many people swearing fidelity to Gnosis, swearing before the altar, and sometime later they enter another school and declare themselves enemies of Gnosis. This is because they do not have individuality. The "I" that was enthusiastic about Gnosis at one moment is later displaced by another "I" that hates Gnosis.

Still, the human being cannot have continuity of purpose because he does not have individuality, he is a legion of devils, and each devil has his own criteria, ideas, opinions, etc. The human being is an unrealized being. We still do not possess the Being. Only the Being gives us true individuality.

CHAPTER 4

Open Letter

Most illustrious Mr. President of the United States of America. Mr. Prime Minister of the Soviet Union.

Please excuse us for not mentioning your names and surnames since we do not know in what year this letter may reach you and times change, as is only logical, and we do not know if you will still be occupying the first magistracy of your respective countries on that date.

The purpose of this open letter is to inform you that in Latin America the conquest of space has already been achieved. It is only natural that you would smile skeptically at such information, possibly considered by you as insolent.

We fulfill the duty to advise you not to spend any more money on cosmic rockets; such money should be better used. Cosmic rockets are useless and a true failure.

At present there is a scientific society with ninety-eight eminent scientists from various European nations in a secret place in South America, in the deep heart of the forest. This society, following in the footsteps of the great sage Guillermo Marconi, learned to use powerful solar energy with great skill.

Currently under the direction of Martian sages, this society builds wonderful interplanetary ships with which they have not only studied all your territories in depth but have also succeeded in traveling to the Moon and Mars.

Needless to say, the aforementioned scientific society has enough money to continue its works thanks to the economic support of the Martians. To clarify, for us it would not be strange for you to indignantly throw this letter away because your pride and skepticism is well known on the planet Earth.

However, within a few years you will have concrete proof of our claims. The liquid fuel that you use for cosmic rockets is not suitable for interplanetary navigation.

Cosmic ships designed by Martians, and built by the wise men of the cited scientific society under the direction of Martian sages, are propelled by solar energy.

The scientists of the aforementioned society are eminently religious, and there is even a priest among them (it doesn't matter from which religion). We are absolutely convinced that the conquest of space is absolutely impossible if we exclude religiosity.

All inhabitants of the cosmos are deeply religious. All know very well that the divine is latent and immanent in every atom of the infinite. The aforementioned scientific society has built a great subterranean laboratory in the heart of the forest.

This laboratory has everything it needs for research. Contact with Martians was achieved on December 16, 1955, at five o'clock in the afternoon.

At that hour, five Martian machines flew over the jungle, and one landed. Four Martian people descended, among them the Martian leader of the expedition. Since then, contact was established, and cosmic ships from Mars routinely land in that region.

The ninety-eight scientists residing in that deep jungle of South America live normally with the Martians, and they are learning the science of interplanetary navigation from them.

The aforementioned scientists received from the hands of the Martian chief, Mr. Tage, a gold document with the following inscription:

Loga (Mars), universal brother of immense space, pays homage and friendship to Dogue (Earth), in the vehement wish to unite all beings living in one spirit, in the infinite spirit for eternal glory and peace.

We congratulate the Martian leader, Mr. Tage, for his speech of few words. These few words are Sundi, Dogue, Loga, which mean: God, Earth, Mars. With this speech and the golden document, the alliance between Martians and Earthlings was sealed.

We also send our congratulations to Mr. Martinelli for the beautiful and significant ring given to Mr. Tage. On October 12, 1956, at noon, the most important cosmic event of all centuries, after the coming of our Lord the Christ, took place on the face of the Earth.

One of the most illustrious members of the aforementioned scientific society, the illustrious Mr. Narciso Genovese, says the Columbus Expedition left for the planet Mars at that precise hour. We owe a lot to Mr. Narciso Genovese concerning the previously mentioned scientific expedition to Mars. If he receives this letter, may he receive our congratulations.

Just as three ships arrived to America with Columbus, there were also three cosmic ships built by Earth scientists under the direction of Martians.

The names of the three cosmic ships are Loga, Dogue, Cundi (Mars, Earth, Alliance).

The interior of the ships was decorated with the image of Christ, and the journey was carried out with full success. The convoy was formed by three cosmic terrestrial ships, and six Martians who fulfilled the mission of escorting the terrestrial ships.

Nine people formed the crew of the terrestrial ships, three for each of the three terrestrial ships. The first stage of the cosmic flight was the Moon, and it was absolutely proven that the Moon is a planet that is already dead.

The expedition members rested on the Moon, and then continued their journey toward Mars. Ten more ships of Martian origin joined the members of the expedition on the Moon. All the inhabitants of the city of Tanio, capital of the planet Mars, went to the airport to welcome the inhabitants of the Earth.

The expedition members stayed on the planet Mars for five days dedicated to observation and study. They learned a lot on Mars, and after returning victoriously, they continued their studies and research in the heart of the South American jungle.

The ninety-eight European scientists dedicated to this type of research and study under the direction of Martian sages want to share their knowledge with all the inhabitants of Earth. They want all humanity to participate in interplanetary navigation but Russia and the United States, with their atomic experiments and nuclear explosions, are hindering us, they are preventing members of the august scientific society from making all the inhabitants of Earth participants in cosmic voyages.

The two great world wars that filled the world with sorrow, and now the Cold War with every possibility of becoming hot and again filling the world with blood and destruction, are the main factors preventing cultural exchange with Martians and cosmic journeys.

No more cosmic rockets are needed; contact with Martians has already been made. Now what is needed in order to be able to participate in cosmic trips is dissolution of the "I".

As long as the “I” exists, there will be no peace; and as long as there is no peace, interplanetary travel is impossible. In these precise moments in which we live, it is not cosmic rockets that are needed but study of the “I” and its total death; thus and only thus, will trips to Mars be possible.

It is impossible to take murderers, thieves, drunkards, gluttons, the greedy, materialists, Marxists, enemies of the eternal, prostitutes, and so on to Mars.

Only peace reigns on Mars, and there is not even any need for governments, nationalities, armies, or police. There are no criminals on Mars, and if one was to be born, he would be considered sick and taken to an isolated sanatorium.

Think, gentlemen, of what this means. Think of such a world, a world where the “I” no longer exists. Imagine for a moment an army from Earth invading Mars. Comprehend what such horror, such barbarism, means.

The author of this letter begs you, gentleman, in the name of the truth, to put an end to atomic explosions, to end the Cold War, and to start an epoch of universal religiosity. In particular, I ask the Soviet Union to suspend the public and private dissemination of the materialistic dialectic, and to intensify advertising in favor of religion.

Know, gentleman, that all inhabitants of the cosmos worship divinity, and that the conquest of space is impossible without religiosity. Please, gentlemen, I beg you in the name of Earth’s inhabitants, to not harm us any more with your wars, hatred of divinity, nuclear explosions, etc.

*Signed in Mexico,

third year of Aquarius,

Gnostic Movement.*

SECOND PART

FLYING SAUCERS

CHAPTER 5

The Naked Truth

A very famous newspaper in Mexico City published the following news, in big front page headlines, “Flying saucers in France and the United States located by radar.”

Below, we transcribe the text of this alarming news:

Flying Saucers Reappeared Last Night in the Midwest of the United States

Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, August 2 (AFP)

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol says that at the Tinker military base near Oklahoma City, radar recorded the presence of four unidentified objects that circled in the sky at an altitude of about seven thousand meters, but at the base itself they refuse to confirm or deny the news. [They hide it.]

On the other hand, three police patrols claimed to have seen objects that flew for thirty minutes in perfect formation. The color of these objects, red at first, was gradually transformed into white and blue-green.

The Sheriff's Office in Wichita, Kansas, has announced that several unidentified objects were observed last night in the space of hours, at an altitude ranging from two thousand to three thousand meters.

It Landed in a Field

Marmande, France, August 2 (AFP)

A flying saucer was seen last night by a student near the city of Marmande in southwestern France. According to the witness, it was a huge luminous disc that landed in a field, and then rose up to depart at a dizzying speed.

Alarming news has come from all corners of the Earth about flying saucers. In France, one of those cosmic ships landed, and medium-height crew members came out of it, according to an eye-witness. The authorities found traces of an unknown ship at the site.

In Argentina, another ship landed on a mountain that is difficult to access. A farmer reported it to the authorities; they were able to see the ship but were unable to reach it because of the rugged terrain.

A cosmic ship flew over a cosmic rocket control tower in Australia while the experts of this tower were following the trajectory of the rocket that photographed Mars.

The naked truth about flying saucers is that they really exist, and that they have been recorded by radar and duly photographed. It is impossible that radar and photographic devices can undergo hallucinations.

This question of flying saucers is now scandalous, and though rogues and skeptics make fun of and mock those of us who claim the existence of cosmic ships, whether we like it or not, flying saucers are a concrete fact that's properly registered by radar.

We are absolutely certain that rogues do not like this thorny issue because of that which is called self-love. No one likes to have his self-esteem hurt. They love themselves too much, and are not willing to give up their beloved theories just for the sake of it.

Rogues believe that human beings exist only on Earth. They are very presumptuous in firmly believing that only they have the right to live in such a wonderful and infinite cosmos. Nevertheless, that's how they are, and there's no way to convince them they're wrong.

In view of the concrete facts, of sensational news about flying saucers, the Gnostic Movement stands to demand from men of science that they speak more frankly, and stop hiding the truth about flying saucers or cosmic ships.

In the Nevada desert (United States), the great American scientist, Adamski, contacted some Venusians who landed near the post where he was doing his research.

This world-renowned scientist was able to talk extensively with these Venusians.

In a South American country, whose name we cannot mention, there is a scientific society composed of ninety-eight wise disciples of Marconi. These sages live together with a group of Martians who routinely land in that region.

What bothers the rogues most is that it's not made public, and that everything is done so secretly. We ask these rogues, if they were so unconscious as to give a three-year-old boy a dynamite bomb, what would happen to a child who played with a dynamite bomb?

If mankind were given flying saucers, we can be absolutely sure they would be used for war, and then no one on the face of the Earth could be sure of his own life. Let's remember the speed these ships produce, the power to rise or descend vertically, the power to remain seemingly still in the air, and so on.

To give these ships to humanity would be like giving a dynamite bomb to a child to play with. To rogues who dislike the secret so much, we advise three things: first, regenerate yourself; second, a good dose of patience; third, abandon the wrong concept of considering yourself the only inhabitant of the cosmos.

The rocket that photographed Mars is not a marvel of science. The lousy photographs taken at seventeen thousand kilometers away are impossible to prove whether there is life on Mars or not.

It is stupid to infer the reality of life on the planet Mars from a lousy photograph.

The countless craters on Mars do not mean that Mars is a dead world like the Moon.

If the Earth were photographed from seventeen thousand kilometers away, it is logical the photograph would be similar to those taken of Mars. Therefore, in those photographs we would see something foggy, full of innumerable craters.

No photograph of a cosmic type can inform us about the oxygen that is or is not on a certain planet.

Even if rogues feel very upset and throw all their defamatory drool at us, the reality is that in different places on Earth there are already selected groups of people who are in direct contact with inhabitants of Mars, Mercury, Venus, etc.

CHAPTER 6

A Jupiterian Visitor

News coming from all over the world claims that cosmic ships land in different places on Earth. What bothers rogues most is they cannot capture one of these ships with its crew and everything.

We're absolutely sure African and the Amazonian cannibals are also very upset when they fail to capture an explorer.

In the specific case of flying saucers, people would like to proceed as cannibals but the crew members of cosmic ships, who know about human savagery, are clearly not willing to be caught because they know very well the fate that would await them. Rogues would make them prisoners, the ships would be confiscated and used for war, etc., etc., etc.

The crews of those cosmic ships are not willing to serve as guinea pigs, and before being caught they prefer, with just reason, to disappear into infinite space; it's similar to the white explorer who flees before the tribe of cannibals.

We're saying something that might hurt rogues a lot because they love themselves so much and presume to be super-civilized even though deep down they're truly savages dressed in modern clothes.

In Brazil, near Paraná, a cosmic ship landed in the presence of a famous scientist named Kraspedon. The captain of this ship invited the aforementioned scientist to visit his ship.

This scientist was able to see not only the interior of the ship but also its crew.

The captain of this ship said he came from a satellite of the planet Jupiter. He spoke in perfect Spanish, and promised the scientist to reciprocate his visit. When Mr. Kraspedon wanted to give the captain his address, it wasn't necessary; the captain declined the offer saying, "We know perfectly well how to find you on Earth."

Six months later on an ordinary Sunday, shut within his study at home, Mr. Kraspedon was suddenly interrupted by his wife who informed him that a man was at the door wishing to speak to him. She told him this man had a Bible in his hand, and he insisted on explaining it.

Mr. Kraspedon ordered his wife to dismiss the visitor and close the door. Moments later, the lady returned, informing her husband that the aforementioned visitor did not want to leave and insisted on talking to him.

A little bit upset, the scientist decided to leave his study and go to the door to attend to the visitor. He was very surprised to encounter face-to-face the captain of the cosmic ship he had met six months before.

Mr. Kraspedon invited the visitor in, taking him into his living room. Then came the conversation. The aforementioned scientist wanted to examine the intellectual capacities of the Jupiterian and, with very complicated questions about the Bible, drove him into a very difficult alley.

This visitor proved to possess a very brilliant intelligence since he knew even the most intimate roots of Greek, Hebrew, and Aramaic, and knew how to give to the Holy Scriptures highly scientific, deeply philosophical, extraordinarily artistic, and transcendently mystical interpretations.

After that interview, there were two more interviews in different places of the city, which the aforementioned scientist attended accompanied by a professor of physics and mathematics.

The teachings given by the Jupiterian in the field of astronomy were truly formidable; all that knowledge is transcendental.

Mr. Kraspedon is a serious scientist; he is not a charlatan. He decided to condense all the knowledge the Jupiterian gave him into a beautiful book written in Portuguese, entitled My Contact with Flying Saucers.

The Jupiterian warned that atomic explosions were altering the upper layer of the Earth's atmosphere. This layer is the supreme filter that breaks down and deconstructs solar rays, transforming them into light and heat.

The Jupiterian said if atomic scientists continued their nuclear explosions, the day would come when the supreme filter would then be unable to break down and deconstruct sunrays into light and heat; then we would see the Sun black as silicon, the Moon red as blood, and upon the face of the Earth, a ferruginous-red color.

The Jupiterian warned that decay of the upper layer of Earth's atmosphere, which sustains life on Earth, would bring great earthquakes, and cities would fall to dust like a castle of cards.

The Jupiterian informed him the space navigators who visit the Earth are already seeing the upper layer of Earth's atmosphere in a clear process of alteration, lacking the brilliance and splendor of other times.

The Jupiterian said thermonuclear war will saturate the water we drink, the crops that sustain us, the clouds that bring the rains, etc., with atomic radiations.

The Jupiterian warned that atomic radiation will damage phosphorus in the brain of human beings, and everywhere one will see Dantean scenes in the streets, hospitals full of people, multiplication of cancer and leukemia, millions and millions of dead people, hunger and despair.

Time is passing, and subterranean atomic explosions are now continuing in Russia as well as in the United States. France and China continue making atomic explosions in the atmosphere, and newspapers from around the whole world are bringing news about spontaneous earthquakes now in Chile, San Salvador, Iraq, Japan, etc.

We are faced with concrete facts that cannot be refuted. Those who are envious will be very annoyed by the above-mentioned story about the Jupiterian and Mr. Kraspedon, and it would not surprise us much if now they launch all their satires against us based on stupid skepticism, like those who made fun of Pasteur, Galileo, Edison, etc.

What bothers the envious most is not having the opportunity that Mr. Kraspedon had. We're sure that if cannibals and these envious people were given such an opportunity, they would inevitably abuse it by capturing or killing the visitors from the infinite cosmos.

Cannibals are cannibals, and the inhabitants of other worlds know very well how to guard themselves by disappearing into space before they can be captured by the barbarian hordes.

CHAPTER 7

The Man Who Went to Venus

We know Salvador Villanueva Medina, the man who went to Venus, personally. There is nothing fantastic or unbalanced about Salvador. Salvador has been examined by psychiatrists, and they have concluded that he is a normal, mentally-balanced man.

Salvador does not live off his extraordinary adventure, nor on the book he wrote entitled, I was on the Planet Venus. This gentleman is now a mechanic by profession, he fixes cars, and this is how he lives; we have been in his workshop, watching him work, and he is one hundred percent practical. We reserve the address of this gentleman because we do not have authorization to print it.

We limit ourselves to only two things: first, to give testimony that this is an absolutely sane man dedicated to his work and his family; second, that this man went through a tremendous adventure but does not live off it.

Salvador Villanueva Medina tells what happened, and has suffered a lot because rogues, eternal skeptics, and imbeciles have made fun of him.

Beyond doubt, Salvador was on Venus and fulfils the duty of informing his fellowman, even though they mock him. He who laughs at what he does not know is on the way to being an idiot.

In the third full week of August 1953, Salvador was driving a car to Laredo, carrying some Americans who wished to return to their country, and had to go through the most tremendous adventures. The car was damaged; his companions decided to go back to a nearby town in search of a tow truck. Meanwhile in the silence of the night, Salvador got under the car with the purpose of fixing it.

When he tried to get out from under the car, he heard someone approaching, as he could hear footsteps on the road. A strange voice asked him in perfect Spanish what was wrong with the car. Salvador did not answer. He found himself in front of a strangely dressed man, small in stature, approximately one meter and twenty centimeters tall.

The visitor's strange uniform, the face as white as ivory, the long and wavy platinum hair falling to his shoulders, the perfection of his face, etc., surprised Salvador tremendously.

Salvador recounts that this strange visitor wore a belt with holes from which strange lights emitted.

Salvador only asked the mysterious character if he was an aviator. The character answered that his plane, as we call it, was a short distance away. Having said these words, the character went off into the mountains. Salvador tells us that after this event he decided to sleep peacefully in his car.

Not much time had passed when he was awakened by loud knocks on the front passenger-side window. Salvador opened his door, and was very surprised to find his acquaintance now in the company of another such individual. Salvador had them enter his car, and talked to them at length.

Those people said they came from Venus, and gave many facts about the planet.

They said the streets were endless on Venus, all of them full of overpasses to avoid accidents.

On Venus, vehicles consume neither plant nor mineral fuels because they are harmful to organisms. Venusians use solar energy to propel their vehicles.

They told him the walkways, sidewalks, or pavements of the streets are not stationary; they're organized in the form of metallic bands that move and save pedestrians effort, and people never occupy the roadway because it's metallic and conducts the solar force with which all vehicles are propelled.

The Venusians said they had only one ocean on their world but it was three times deeper than ours.

Salvador stated that, according to our earthly sages, no other planet can have rational inhabitants.

The Venusians replied, "What makes them think such a thing? Perhaps the deficient means at their disposal for making their calculations? Don't you think it's quite pretentious to believe you are the only beings that populate the universe?"

Those Venusians informed Salvador extensively about the life of Venus. They dispelled his doubts by explaining that they had grown up on Venus by means of special scientific systems, a uniform or benign artificial climate turning their world into a delightful abode.

They explained that children do not wander through the streets on Venus, the government controls them until they reach the proper age; they are classified according to their physical and mental qualities, and are assigned a certain place where they are needed.

These Venusians explained that they get all the necessary elements to build buildings, make clothes, manufacture vehicles, as well as sixty percent or more of their food, from the ocean.

They said their boats can be in the air as well as in the water, and that at the bottom of the ocean there are gigantic factories in charge of selecting and making scientific use of the fish for their food.

The Venusians stated that some of them remain here on our planet Earth, dressed in civilian clothes with the purpose of studying the humanity of our planet. They said the historical stage we Earthlings are going through now was lived by them many thousands of years ago. They too knew wars and cunning political leaders, until brotherhood was finally born. Today they have no flags. They've made their world a single homeland, and are ruled by wise people who only advise them with wisdom and love.

Salvador was invited by the Venusians to verify the reality of these statements. He got out of the car after the two men. He went with them into the mountains, and found a majestic ship in the shape of a flattened sphere, which was supported by three buoys forming a triangle. Salvador said this ship had a cable slightly inclined inward at the top, about one meter high, surrounded by holes that looked like portholes, like those used in ships.

Salvador entered the interior of the formidable cosmic ship which, according to Salvador's words, looked like an awe-inspiring fortress.

Salvador lived on the planet Venus for five days, and returned to Earth after verifying the reality of all these statements made by the Venusians.

The Venusian civilization is millions of times more advanced than that of us proud Earthlings.

Salvador related what he saw; we limit ourselves to commenting on it. The Phillips company examined soil and plant samples collected at the place where Salvador found the ship, and a very strange atomic disorder was discovered in those samples. The place was also photographed because traces of the ship were left there. The wise Adamski gave a lecture on this subject at the Theater of the Insurgents in Mexico City. A German commission of scientists was interested in the matter, visited Salvador, and studied the field of events. There is no doubt about it, but the imbeciles will continue laughing as always because they are imbeciles.

CHAPTER 8

Flying Saucers and Little Green Men

A news story from Lima, Peru, dated August 2, read as follows:

A flying saucer with its crew member, a greenish dwarf, was seen last night on the roof of a house in this capital city by a young student, according to a statement he gave today to the newspaper El Comercio.

This visit is added to one reported last week by a guard of the Chosica district, 40 kilometers from Lima, who reported having seen in the courtyard of a factory a saucer with an elephant like trunk, which disappeared after ten minutes of observation.

As for last night's flying saucer, fifteen-year-old Alberto San Roman Nuñez, claimed to have seen a greenish, wrinkled being, ninety centimeters tall, sliding down the roof.

Shortly after, the ship emitted a reddish light that enveloped him as it took flight, leaving its tracks on the surface, which showed four distinct markings.

Here ends this marvelous news. Green skin can surprise many people, but we Earthlings also have black, yellow, and red skin races that could surprise cosmic visitors.

Actually, none of the eyewitnesses of flying saucers and extraterrestrial crews could dare to claim that these mysterious visitors have forms different than we poor earthlings.

It's unfortunate that science fiction has been devoted to propagating false ideas or fantasies about the figure and form of extraterrestrial visitors.

It's clear that skin color varies according to climate, environment, etc., but the human form, whether gigantic, medium, or small is always the same.

Science fiction has been in charge of propagating everywhere, whether through radio, movies, or television tremendous falsehoods that are harmful to humanity.

Infamous slanders have been raised against extraterrestrial visitors; the minds of Earthlings judge according to their perversities, and want to see in our noble visitors all the hatred of the earthly mind, all the atrocities of a Hitler, all the monstrosities of the inventor of the hydrogen bomb, all the bloody purges of a Stalin, and so on, and so forth.

These perverse Earthlings do not want to realize the noble purpose of our extraterrestrial friends. If they wanted to take over the planet Earth and enslave all its inhabitants, they would do it in minutes because they have sufficient elements to do so.

If they wanted to destroy us, they would have already done so because they have atomic and scientific instruments with which they can blow up any planet in space.

Let's remember that long before we Earthlings knew mathematics, they were already navigating in outer space.

Our extraterrestrial friends know planet Earth better than we do, and have no interest in enslaving or destroying us as the science fiction of these times of rock and roll, and rebels without a cause, have mysteriously propagated.

Our extraterrestrial friends know the critical time we are living in, and they only want to help us. We need their help most urgently because we Earthlings are total failures.

If the barbarian hordes continue in their foolish purpose of capturing or destroying the cosmic ships that visit us, we will unfortunately lose the brilliant opportunity our brothers from space are offering us.

They want to establish personal contact with us but, instead of receiving them with true respect and love, instead of offering them hospitality, fighter planes are sent to intercept them. Everybody would like to destroy them; we are really behaving like savage aliens to every civilization and every culture.

The time has come to change our bellicose attitude, and to offer our visiting brothers from space our friendship and love. They come to help us, not to destroy us.

The Gnostic brethren should start by setting an example by establishing on the roofs of our houses, in our countries, on our lands, friendly signs, circles with dots in the center. From that point, there are lines that go to the periphery, and from the periphery there are small lines that give the impression they are going to the center, to the point, but they don't reach the center.

Make the aforementioned point in the center of the circle have a beautiful golden color to symbolize divinity.

Lines from the periphery toward the center, toward the point, can be blue, quite numerous in quantity, and short. Lines from the center toward the circle clearly connect the point to the circumference, and can also be blue.

This is the symbol of divinity in the Martian religion. We can use it by putting it on our houses, on our lands, making it with luminous lights or simply painted, to establish a friendly relationship with the inhabitants of Mars, and with all the inhabitants of the cosmos.

This symbol means everything comes from divinity and returns to divinity.

Use this symbol to offer friendship to the inhabitants of space, even if rogues laugh at us. All of you already know what rogues are; they are one hundred percent skeptical, they boast of being super-civilized, they think they are very wise, and use satire and refined irony against all those who do not want to think like them.

CHAPTER 9

The Gnostic Movement

Mankind has thrown himself into the conquest of space without caring a bit about flying saucers or the issue of spirituality.

Russians and Americans want to conquer the Moon, and of course they will land on the Moon, although cosmic rockets are somewhat outlandish and even ridiculous compared with flying saucers.

The most regrettable aspect of all this is the aggressive instinct of earthly humanity. Whoever takes the Moon will want to convert it into a military platform armed with atomic potential.

Tyrants and Trojans have not yet taken the Moon, and already there is talk about orbital atomic rockets to destroy defenseless cities. Unfortunately, this is the state of earthly humanity.

The inventor of the hydrogen bomb still doesn't know the damage he caused mankind. If one of those hydrogen bombs were to explode in the upper atmosphere where the deposit of pure hydrogen exists, the whole atmosphere of the Earth would be burned, thus fulfilling the prophecy told by Peter in his Second Epistle that the letter reads as follows:

But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in which the heavens will pass away with a great noise, and the elements will melt with fervent heat; both the earth and the works that are in it will be burned up.

See 2 Peter 3:10

It's clear that before this happened, before a madman came up with the idea of doing this experiment with the hydrogen bomb, before it exploded in the upper atmosphere where Earth's pure hydrogen is (the living deposit of universal hydrogen), we can be sure that they, the navigators of infinite space, would blow up the planet Earth because there's no reason for humanities of the other planets of the solar system to have to suffer the consequences of the explosion of the terrestrial hydrogen.

Such a terrestrial catastrophe would have frightening repercussions on other planets of the solar system, and before this could happen, the navigators of outer space would be forced, with deep sorrow, to destroy this planet by blowing it to pieces because it's not fair that other planetary humanities should suffer the consequences of the madness of terrestrial man.

At this moment, inhabitants of Earth are full of pride and arrogance. Perverse people have erected the Tower of Babel with which they think of conquering outer space, and the inhabitants of other worlds of the solar system already have orders to defend themselves.

Space rockets will inevitably reach the Moon. Later, these perverse and conceited Earthlings will want to launch themselves to Mars.

The encounter with humanities of other planets is—by logical deduction—totally inevitable, and this antiquated and degenerated race will have no other choice but to transform or perish.

The Universal Christian Gnostic Movement wants to forge groups of men and women of good will to welcome our brothers from space.

Millions of human beings, full of haughtiness, pride, and perversity only believe in their space rockets and destructive weapons. These hordes of smart alecks are devoted to all the vices of Earth, and laugh at everything that smells of flying saucers.

The Gnostic people in no way accept the antichrist of false science, nor can they believe one can conquer infinite space without having conquered oneself.

It would be absurd to suppose the barbarian hordes on Earth can conquer other worlds and enslave superior planetary humanities.

The Gnostic people do not accept the perversity of rogues, and have resolved to organize the World Salvation Army with men and women of good will who are ready to welcome our brothers from outer space with joy.

The Universal Gnostic Movement will establish everywhere, in different places of the Earth, true mystical groups conducive to the study of cosmic laws with the purpose of preparing people to receive our brothers from space.

The Gnostic Movement comprehends the need of cosmic ships to travel through the infinite but does not believe that the way of perversity, pride, and rocketry is precisely the right one.

The infinite cosmos is sacred, and is ruled by divine laws that cannot be broken with impunity without receiving disastrous consequences.

We Gnostics are ready to study the laws of eternal space in all humility and at the feet of our brothers from space. We know this is precisely the exact path that can enable us to navigate in the true cosmic vessels throughout infinite space.

Now we need to prepare ourselves, doing away with all our defects, dissolving that "I" we carry within, that harmful Mephistopheles, since in some places on Earth there are select human groups that are very secretly in contact with cosmic visitors from whom they have received small quantities of interplanetary ships.

In the Himalayas, full of snow and cold, there is a certain group of Lamas who are in contact with our brothers from space. This group very secretly possesses a certain amount of flying saucers with which they travel through the infinite.

In other places on Earth, there are similar groups that already possess flying saucers.

We are saying something that cannot even remotely be accepted by smart aleck, ironic, sarcastic, and petulant scoundrels. But what does it matter to science and to us?

We, the brothers of the Gnostic Movement, in select and hidden groups, are going to humbly prepare ourselves to make ourselves worthy and deserving of receiving the brothers of space.

On December 27, 1968, our second Gnostic Congress will take place in Barranquilla, Colombia, South America. This event will be international, and delegations from all Gnostic Sanctuaries of America should attend.

Among other things, the Gnostic Congress should deeply study methods and systems of action that lead to the dissemination of these ideas everywhere, with the purpose of forming an environment for our brothers in space.

It is necessary, it is urgent, to spread these teachings, and to form true homes for our brothers from space.

We invite the brethren of all religions, schools, and sects to this great spiritual International Ecumenical Congress, without distinction of creed, race, society, school, order, sex, color.

Paz Inverencial!

CHAPTER 10

Extraterrestrial Attributes and Mission

Lecture No. 135

I am addressing all of you within the Regional Technological Institute of Nogales with the purpose of sharing with you certain inquietudes about the UFO phenomenon. In fact, the UFO phenomenon is bewildering.

As I am talking to you, a very curious case comes to my mind. One afternoon in my house in Mexico City, I heard Jacobo Zabloudski. This man was laughing about the UFO phenomenon; as you know he is quite skeptical in that sense. On the contrary, Pedro Ferriz has seriously dedicated himself to the study of the UFO phenomenon.

After Jacobo Zabloudski's presentation, laughing and with skeptical little words about the UFO phenomenon, some friends quickly invited me to go out to the street as soon as possible.

I went out, and how great was my astonishment to see the very sight of a UFO flying almost, we would say, at roof level of the house. It was so low, flying so low, that everyone on the street, all the neighbors, were amazed; in addition, it was flying very slowly. If I had had a camera in those moments, I would have liked to have photographed it.

The most interesting thing is that those neighbors no longer laughed at the UFO phenomenon but at Jacobo Zab-ludoski's skepticism. The fact had been convincing; so convincing that what Zab-ludoski said previously about the UFO was ridiculous, terribly ridiculous, in the face of reality. So, in reality, the UFO phenomenon is quite bewildering.

In the Republic of El Salvador, something quite unique happened. There was the case, certainly quite sensational, of an engineer being taken to the planet Jupiter. That engineer was one hundred percent skeptical, he didn't believe in these things, and one night, in a park in San Salvador, a cosmic ship landed near there.

Some of the crew members descended from the ship and invited him to enter. Still skeptical, he entered that ship, and after a few seconds he saw with amazement that the Earth remained below, and he saw how it was moving further away through space until, in the end, the Earth looked like a little coin in the infinite. According to him, this man was taken to the planet Jupiter in no more than thirty minutes.

He emphatically states that he encountered a very powerful civilization on Jupiter. He was invited to stay there but didn't want to. He simply said he would return to the planet Earth in order to tell the earthlings something of what he saw; he wanted to give testimony that there is life in other inhabited worlds.

He found there on Jupiter some earthlings that had been taken from our planet precisely to get to know that planet. They didn't want to return to the planet Earth; they preferred to stay on Jupiter.

The former engineer, one hundred percent skeptical, incredulous, and materialistic, changed completely. His materialism dropped before the facts; he had to surrender and recognize that the wisdom of the universe is infinite. Today, this engineer is within the ranks of the Gnostic Movement in the Republic of El Salvador.

We have been told that he intends to write a book to give information about all these things. I hope he will write it soon because we would be truly interested in knowing his whole exposition.

Moving on. Another case I found quite interesting happened in Ecuador. A certain single individual who was affiliated with a school in the Eastern world was visited by some extraterrestrials one day.

The ship descended, specifically, in the enormous garden of his house. Since this man was already preparing for such an event, he was not afraid. He boarded that ship and was taken to the satellite Ganymede. That satellite revolves around the planet Jupiter. It's not superfluous to tell you that twelve satellites, in general, revolve around the aforementioned star.

Jupiter is a titan, a rather gigantic world. I have observed it many times, I have seen it through the telescope. There is no doubt that we are quite intrigued by the double belt in the equatorial zone. It seems to me that men of science have not investigated that belt.

As far as I am concerned, I am frankly intrigued by it and intend to do further research. It's a pity that our current telescopes do not, in fact, have the range we need. However, the one on Mount Palomar is better.

In any case, let's get on with it. That man, I repeat, was on Jupiter's satellite called Ganymede. What did he see on Ganymede? A powerful civilization. Houses are built underground in one single piece with a soft but firm material. Water has to be extracted from certain volcanoes. They possess properly cultivated land, and they grow their own food.

Regarding cultural matters, we were informed that they have magnificent universities. It causes great emotion to learn about the way the inhabitants of Ganymede study. Since they possess a sixth sense, they can obviously better explore the vital base of the physical body. Not only do they know the biological and catalytic processes, etc., but they also know the vital base.

The scientists of our planet Earth have studied the mechanics of the living cell but what do they know about the vital base? Absolutely nothing!

Here, we Mexicans had a great sage. I am referring to Don Alfonso Herrera, author of Plasmogenia. This man managed to create the artificial cell (a very well-made cell) but that cell never had life. Why? Because Don Alfonso could never manipulate the vital base.

We could create an artificial male zoosperm in the laboratory, we could also create an artificial female ovum; biochemical formulas are known, I don't see why it couldn't be created. But one thing is certain, we wouldn't be able to obtain a new child from those artificial gametes. Why? Because we do not manage the vital base.

Artificial inseminations are done both in animals and in people but such inseminations are based on what nature has already done. If you have, for example, zoosperms, that is, sperm matter, you can do the insemination, and that's clear; it results in the appearance of a new child.

But the scientists have not made the zoosperms, nature made them; they've been extracted from living organisms. So, we're playing with what nature has done but we are not capable of doing it.

There is a vital base in the living cell, a kind of double organism, which in Russia specifically is called the bioplastic body. It has been photographed, and is currently under observation.

It happens that in Ganymede, the vital base has been known for many centuries. The inhabitants of Ganymede do not need any special apparatus to see the vital base. They have a sixth sense. The pineal gland, for example, of the inhabitants of Ganymede is of greater volume than that of earthlings. We well know that the pineal gland of earthlings measures only five millimeters in diameter, and is surrounded by fine grit. The pineal gland of the inhabitants of Ganymede is more voluminous.

There is no doubt that in ancient times, for example, this gland was also developed here on Earth, and allowed the Lemurians to always see the ultra of all things, not just the three-dimensional Euclidian world but also the mathematical fourth coordinate.

The inhabitants of Ganymede have not yet lost psychic perception; their pineal gland, I say, is more voluminous. In them, that gland has been connected to the pituitary gland by certain nerve branches and, in turn, the pituitary is connected to the cerebral center of sensations and to the whole optic nerve in general by very fine nerve branches.

So, the inhabitants of Ganymede have a superior type of vision. They can see the vital base of any living creature, the ultra of all things and, therefore, the famous mysteries of life and death are perceptible to the naked eye for them, they do not need special microscopes or ultramicroscopes to know the origin of life.

This man got to know all of this in Ganymede; he also got to know the cosmic ships the inhabitants of that world use to travel through infinite space.

They are great mathematicians; they use solar energy not only to propel their ships but also for all their ordinary services. Unquestionably, the lamps they use to illuminate even their own homes are based on solar energy.

According to this man's accounts, we learned that the inhabitants of Ganymede originally came from a planet that also existed in our solar system, which they called Yellow Planet.

It happened that the inhabitants of Yellow Planet were fully dedicated to atomic experiments, something similar to what is now happening on our planet Earth. A very wise man warned the inhabitants of Yellow Planet about the possibility of destroying that world by means of those experiments.

As always, the inhabitants generally did not believe him but there was a minority who did. Since they possessed cosmic ships, those of the vanguard, those who accepted this thesis, set out to investigate the satellite Ganymede. They saw there was life there, and that it revolved around Jupiter, and they were transported to that place.

When, in fact, a great explosion was provoked that made Yellow Planet burst into pieces, those of the vanguard were already established on Ganymede.

What I am speaking of at this time has been proven. Astronomers have been able to see enormous pieces of what was Yellow Planet from the observatory. So, these are clear and definitive concrete facts.

This man lived on Ganymede for about a month. Meanwhile, a brother of his who always visited with his wife, knocked at the door, and was greatly surprised when he saw the man didn't come to open it; he continued to knock, and finally the servant came out.

They questioned the servant, "Where is your boss?"

The servant said, "Although it may seem incredible, it's true, a cosmic ship landed in the garden of this house, and the gentleman got on the ship and left."

"Where did he go?"

"I wouldn't know. But that's what happened even though you might think I'm crazy."

Naturally, this alarmed his brother quite a bit. But the man had already begged the inhabitants of Ganymede to allow him to return to Earth to say goodbye to his brother and sister-in-law, and bequeath to him his house and also his car.

The inhabitants of Ganymede accepted, and brought him back to Earth, leaving to return for him a month later. Of course, the above-mentioned gentleman went to look for his brother and his brother's wife; he spoke to them quite frankly about what had happened, he bequeathed his house to them, and gave them the car and money he had in the bank, etc.

A month later, he invited his brother and sister-in-law again for a dinner, which he said was to be a farewell dinner because he wanted to travel. In the middle of the dinner, while everyone was very happy, a ship full of beautiful lights slowly descended on the lawn in the wonderful garden of his beautiful residence.

“I am going,” he said.

“Ah, we had a feeling!” exclaimed his sister-in-law.

“Yes, I am leaving but of my own free will. It's not like they're taking me away.”

And he got onto the ship. However, he left his brother a kind of small television screen charged with a solar battery. He said, “All you need to do is concentrate on a receiving device that's here inside this instrument so you can connect with us.”

The ship left for infinite space.

With that device, his brother continued to communicate with Ganymede. The inhabitants of Ganymede always answered. And he and his wife patiently prepared by means of a special psychological system in order to also be brought to Ganymede one day, and it was accomplished. The day came when they were also taken ...

But how did the man in our story make direct contact with the inhabitants of Ganymede? We inquired, investigated, and came to the conclusion that this man concentrated daily on that planet, on that satellite, until he finally had the answer.

If you were to become interested in this subject of the UFO mystery, if you devoted yourselves daily to concentrating on Ganymede, maintaining upright behavior on a daily basis, you might after a certain time be able to obtain the answer.

On Ganymede, the inhabitants of that satellite have some types of special receivers that capture and analyze mental waves. When they determine that whoever emits them does so sincerely and not simply for fun or curiosity, they become interested in him, and sooner or later they visit him.

So, I give you a wonderful and practical key to get in direct contact with Ganymede. Do not forget that mental force exists, it has already been measured in the form of microvolts. These types of waves have been seen coming out of the neocortex of the brain. There is no doubt they are very fast and travel through space. If we direct them toward Ganymede, we might get a favorable response.

Much has been said about the UFO phenomenon, and I could tell you about many experiences; however, I must also tell you about my own experiences. I had direct contact with intergalactic travelers. I will tell you about it ...

I was in the Desert of the Lions, Mexico City; suddenly, I saw a ship that slowly descended into a clearing in the forest. Moved by curiosity, I approached the place. Great was my astonishment (for I have not yet lost the capacity for amazement) at seeing a completely spherical and somewhat flattened ship held up on a steel tripod. I comprehended what it was about ...

A hatch opened and a man of medium height, thin, coppery skin, blue eyes, wide forehead, carrying in his right hand a device unknown to me, descended a metal staircase.

Some other people came behind him, the crew members I'd say, following him. It's clear I approached and spoke to him, and he understood me. Well, I was amazed that when I said, "Good morning, sir," to them, they answered me in correct Spanish.

"Good morning."

That was more than amazing, I asked myself, "Is it possible the navigators from space know the languages of the Earth?" I was amazed.

In those moments I felt the yearning to know other worlds of space, and even grasped the metal tripod on which the ship was being held, and said to the captain, "I would like you to take me to the planet Mars."

"What is it you're saying, to Mars?"

"Yes, sir, to Mars."

"Ah, that's just right there!" he said. In other words, for him, Mars was so close, it was like going to the corner store. I was amazed again.

The captain summoned his people, and went to a place where there were some tree trunks lying horizontally on the ground. I begged him again, I said, "Sir, I am a writer; I would like to know about other civilizations in the cosmos in order to inform the inhabitants of Earth about them. I would also like to bring proof, be it living organisms, or plants, or machines, or books, or whatever, to convince earthlings because, sir," I said, "here on our world, earthlings are one hundred percent skeptical. They would not believe me about any of it if I did not bring them proof, and they would not believe me even if I cried with tears of blood.”

The captain was silent. The crew sat down on wooden logs. Once they were all seated, it happened that one of the ladies (well, there were two ladies among them of indecipherable age) stood up and said, “If we take a plant that is not aromatic and place it next to another that is, it’s obvious the one that is not aromatic will be impregnated with the aroma of the one that is. Right?”

“It’s clear,” I answered.

“Well, the same thing happens on the planets; planets with humanities that were doing very poorly before were gradually impregnated with the radiations of neighboring worlds, and now they are doing very well but we have just arrived here on the planet Earth, as you have seen, and with astonishment we see the same thing isn’t happening here. What is happening on this planet Earth?”

The question was tremendous, and reflecting a little, I answered, “Well, this is a mistake by the Gods.”

But then I wanted to round off my concept a little better, and I continued, saying, “This is the karma of the worlds.”

The lady nodded with approval. The other lady also inclined her head respectfully as a sign of acceptance of the concept, and the whole crew did the same.

Then they stood up ready to leave. And I began, once again with my stubbornness, to beg them to please take me away; I begged the captain, and even pleaded with him. But it was all in vain; he merely told me, "We will continue to see each other on the path."

This was the answer; I know, because they are not earthlings, they are true to their word.

I understood I ought to change for the better even more.

And I observed the moment when they returned again to the interior of their ship. Afterward, I withdrew very slowly to observe what was happening. I saw the moment in which that ship turned on its axis and rose very slowly to then disappear quickly through the unalterable infinite.

Now I comprehend that, in reality, one must prepare oneself psychologically for a journey of that kind.

Much has been said about cosmic ships; some believe, others do not. Fortunately, most inhabitants of Earth have already accepted the reality of flying saucers. The British officially gave their statement, they said, "We cannot deny them, they exist, but since they have such an advanced civilization and we are not at their level, naturally, we cannot comprehend them; and since we cannot comprehend them, we prefer rather to devote ourselves to our civilization, to the conquest of space by our own efforts, to see if we ever get there."

That was the official communication from England. Nowadays, to deny flying saucers is equivalent to being foolish. It has been possible to verify the reality in such a conclusive way that, it seems to me, no astronomer or man of science on the planet Earth would dare, in truth, to deny the existence of flying saucers. Today, to deny it means ignorance.

My friends, now certain questions come to mind. With what purpose would extraterrestrials visit us? What for?

There are cases that amaze us. In Brazil, for example, there was an event that was quite strange. A certain farmer who was working his land was suddenly taken by strong arms and led inside a cosmic ship. He was locked in a room after being examined in a laboratory; in that laboratory his blood was studied, the quality of his blood.

Those scientists, satisfied with the quality of his blood, put him in a chamber where there was a bed. Later, a lady entered the room (according to that farmer, this woman had no eyebrows, and her eyes were slanted like those of the Chinese); she seduced him sexually, and then had intercourse with him. Later, they took him out of the ship, left him there, and the ship set off through space.

What for? Why was his blood examined? Why was he forced to have sexual contact with this woman? What is going on with all this? It's worthwhile for us to become more reflective, and try to inquire, to investigate.

We know that in these moments of world crisis and bankruptcy of all principles, a terrible event is threatening us. I want to refer now to that gigantic planet that bears the name Barnard's Star.

Barnard is the astronomer who observed it and who believes he discovered it (I say, he believes he discovered it because that planet had already been announced by Nostradamus in the middle of the Middle Ages). I myself, in many of my works, have spoken about that planet. So, Mr. Barnard, an eminent astronomer, was not really the one who discovered it but he did baptize it with that name, and that's what the men of science are calling it now.

That planet travels at extraordinary speeds; it belongs to a distant solar system. I emphatically refer to the Tylar Solar System.

It has a formidable orbit, and according to mathematical calculations made at different observatories on the planet Earth (in the Philippines as well as in London, and in Palomar, etc.), this planet is coming to Earth's orbit; it is gigantic, six times bigger than Jupiter, thousands of times bigger than the planet Earth. Soon that titan of the heavens will be close.

Since it brings some very serious dangers to the planet Earth, astronomers have been careful in their cosmological maps. We have one of those maps drawn by the observatories in our Gnostic Center of Anthropological and Cultural Studies, we have it in the headquarters.

With that map, we have been able to verify that the planet Earth will receive the main effects as that planet approaches, and Mars, Uranus, and Jupiter will be affected secondarily.

Since it is a gigantic mass, when that planet is very close to our Earth, it will magnetically attract to the Earth's surface the liquid fire that exists inside the planet. Then volcanoes will erupt everywhere, accompanied by terrible tidal waves and great earthquakes.

In these moments when I'm saying this, what the Nahuas said comes to my memory, "The Sons of Fifth Sun (alluding to us), will perish by fire and by earthquakes ..."

So, what they said has a very real basis. Obviously, the liquid fire will circulate through the terrestrial crust, and will burn everything that has life. Thus, the Mayan prophecy for the Katun-13 will be fulfilled; also the prophecies that Muhammad, in the Koran, makes for the Katun-13 will be fulfilled (even though he does not say the phrase Katun-13).

Actually, the facts will speak for themselves, and when that planet gets too close to our planet Earth, after the great universal fire, it's obvious that a revolution of the Earth's axes will have to be provoked. The poles will become the equator, the equator the poles; the seabeds will change, and the present continents will sink to the bottom of the waters.

That will be the end of the Sons of the Fifth Sun, just as the Sages of Anahuac said when they presented or talked about the Aztec Stone, the Sun Stone (I'm referring to the calendar).

We are talking about facts, and we are also analyzing the prophecies of Anahuac.

Well then, we can deduce as a consequence or corollary that we are now being helped by extraterrestrials. More than one atomic catastrophe would have already happened in the United States or Russia if the extraterrestrials had not come to our aid.

Yet, what is the reception given to the extraterrestrials? It's obvious. Recently, two ships coming from starry space flew over the territory of the United States. Immediately, Air Force planes rushed to encounter them, armed with rockets and machine guns.

One of the cosmic ships left toward the infinite, the other descended delicately to a power tower; that was when the New York blackout occurred.

The two ships were photographed (both the one that left for infinite space and the one that landed on the electric energy tower). With this, the extraterrestrials gave proof of their power.

The generals of the United States of America exclaimed, "Here we have the Achilles heel of the United States!" It's really not possible for the United States to mobilize its defenses in any way if the electric power fails.

If a handful of men had paralyzed the powerful American nation (only a few men were needed to defeat the United States), the extraterrestrials are truly so powerful!

Certainly, we earthlings are so behind. When we were learning the first rudiments of mathematics, extraterrestrials had already conquered space, and were traveling through the infinite.

And yet, we are so daring that instead of receiving those lords of space with true love, with true dignity, we receive them with bullets. This is indicating to us that we are still barbarians in the fullest sense of the word.

Many would say, "Well, if they are so wise and we are so backward, why don't they come and civilize us and land ... either in the Zócalo of Mexico or in any town? Why do they run, why do they leave, why do they hide? What is wrong with them?"

I, in turn, would ask you the following. What would you do if you were walking through an African or Amazonian forest, and suddenly found yourself with a tribe of cannibals? You would run away, wouldn't you?

It doesn't seem to me that you would like to be roasted and then served at a banquet. You would try to save your own skin at any cost.

And if you were to carry weapons, to carry machine guns, what would you do? I don't think you would keep from using your weapons; I understand you would shoot bullets left and right in desperation, and you would do away with the whole tribe once and for all and, finally, you would sing victory. Right? That's what you would do! Or would you keep from using your machine guns? Obviously not.

Well, the extraterrestrials are in a similar situation. Either they flee from us, the barbarian earthlings, or they destroy us. But since they are not earthlings, they are not murderers, they would rather retreat than harm us.

Obviously, those who have conquered space must possess powerful weaponry.

... battalion of the trained army. A cosmic ship descended before the army. Possibly the captain wanted, once and for all, to engage in friendly relations with the earthlings. Perhaps he thought we were meek sheep, that we would receive them with open arms, that we would take them to dinner and at the end we would give them their lemon sorbet, but the captain was wrong.

The sergeant of that battalion ordered, "Fire against those evil men! Fire!" ... The captain did nothing but operate a very strange lamp, and a blue ray paralyzed the weapons, and paralyzed the arms of those barbarians of Earth as well. Nobody could fire a single shot or even move; and he calmly said goodbye to the earthlings while he had paralyzed their arms and legs, got on his ship, and got lost into space.

Those of the battalion were astonished. Later they could walk calmly, move their arms, they hadn't been harmed in any way. If the extraterrestrials were so perverse, they would have killed even the last little soldier of the battalion but they only intended to defend themselves without doing any harm.

You wouldn't proceed in the same way, would you? If you were faced with a tribe of cannibals, and you were armed to the teeth, I assure you that you would not be so meek as not to make use of those weapons.

Well, extraterrestrials have demonstrated two things: first, intelligence; second, power. However, I dare say they have also demonstrated a third factor: love, for they have not caused us any harm.

A certain man, who was taken to the planet Venus, was astonished when they did a demonstration. The inhabitants of Venus placed a small device in front of a hill and told him, "Watch!" They pressed a button, and that hill completely fell to pieces, it collapsed. Then he said, "If we were to teach the inhabitants of your planet Earth how to use these devices, they would commit terrible crimes, so we prefer to remain silent."

So, my dear friends, it's worthwhile for us to try to eliminate the barbarism we carry within us, the anger that makes us so monstrous, the abominable hatred, the unlimited selfishness, the fear, because all inhabitants of Earth are loaded with fear. Do you believe a man would carry a gun in his belt if he did not fear an attack? Do you believe a nation would be armed with atomic bombs if it did not fear the attack of other nations?

Obviously, fear is the causa causarum of many serious mistakes. A man who is not afraid does not need to carry a gun in his belt; a nation that is not afraid does not need to be armed. Fear truly makes us criminals in the fullest sense of the word.

At these moments of world crisis, when the planet Barnard's Star is approaching our world, on the eve of the great cataclysm, and at moments when nations are feverishly arming themselves for war, extraterrestrials want to help us, and if we would receive them with open arms, it would totally change the course of history; indeed, it would start a flourishing age on the face of the Earth.

That's all I have to say!

Q: What is being measured, according to the Mayan Katun measurement, Katun-13, in our time?

A: I will gladly answer that interesting question. Katun-13 is very important. Remember that our solar system has thirteen worlds, and that may seem strange to you but I am going to mention them. First, Earth; second, Mercury; third, Venus; fourth, Sun; fifth, Mars; sixth, Jupiter; seventh, Saturn; eighth, Neptune; ninth, Uranus; tenth, Pluto; eleventh, Vulcan; twelfth, Persephone; and thirteenth, Clarion.

Scientists, today, are beginning to capture the vibrations of Vulcan, the eleventh, but they must advance a little more before they capture the vibrations of Clarion.

Those thirteen Katuns are related to the thirteen worlds, and they are also related to the thirteen heavens that the codices of which our Anahuac ancestors speak.

Great sages have said the world was created on March 13th. In reality, each race is divided into thirteen time periods. Obviously, those thirteen time periods must be mathematically divided into thirteen pieces of the great sidereal day, which is 25,968 years old.

So, the 25,968 years must be divided by thirteen to get the corresponding result, the conclusion, thirteen parts of a sidereal day that last 25,968 years.

Each of the thirteen Katuns is related to the thirteen worlds; it is also related to the thirteen Sephiroth of the Kabbalah, and the three circles of the Absolute; it's related to the thirteen planets of the solar system since they are thirteen parts of the great sidereal year of 25,968 years.

So, in fact, all the prophecies that have been made in relation to the twelve Katuns that have gone by have been mathematically fulfilled, and the Mayans are waiting for the last part, the thirteenth, Katun-13.

A Mayan elder was asked, "Will your son see it?"

He answered, "No, my son will not see it."

"Will your grandson see it?"

He answered, "Yes, my grandson will see it."

I have recently returned from Palenque where I was in contact with someone who studies under the direction of certain Mayan scholars. Those who dare to say the Mayans were ignorant, that they didn't know astronomy, etc., etc., show they really know nothing about anthropology.

Even today, the Mayans continue with their mathematical and astronomical knowledge, they continue with their studies; nothing has been able to stop them, not even the boot of the conquerors.

Period! Does anyone else want to ask something?

CHAPTER 11

The New York Blackout

Chapter VII from the book Gazing at the Mystery

My friends, tonight we are going to discuss a certain very fascinating article I read in a magazine. This article is entitled, “Doubt about New York’s Blackout.” We will transcribe some paragraphs of the cited article for you.

At exactly 5:28 p.m. on November 9, 1965, the greatest and most unexplained technical failure in history occurred. At that time and on that date, twelve million New Yorkers suffered the consequences of a total interruption in their supply of electricity.

But what the inhabitants of New York did not know was that, in addition to their city, there were others more immersed in darkness. ‘Just make the emergency lights function, we’re at risk for theft.’

American regions Albany, Rochester, Boston, and Providence were in the dark. Located in Canada, Quebec and Ottawa suffered the same technical failure.

In an immense area of 207,184 square kilometers, which included the states of Quebec, Ontario, Vermont, part of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, no device which depended on electricity was working.

Thirty-six million people—more than the combined populations of Argentina, Bolivia, Chile, Paraguay, and Uruguay—were left in the dark.

Elevators, traffic lights, radios, televisions, and newspaper presses stopped working. Electric ovens, electric stoves, refrigerators, blenders, toasters, iron lungs, and even dentists' drills became useless. In the streets, dreadful traffic jams occurred.

The situation was further aggravated by the fact that vehicles that ran out of gas could not be filled at gas stations. The electric pumps did not work, and the cars were abandoned. In the subway stations there would be almost a million people unable to use the transportation. 'I live thirty miles away from here, and my son is sick. We can't move.'

The city was congested with the blackout. Planes that were going to land or take off had difficulties when the runway lights momentarily went out. 'It's urgent for us to land! We're almost out of fuel!'

Mayhem was on the rise. There were deaths by accident, thieves, and people driven mad by the darkness. The situation was so serious and unexpected that sessions being held in the Glass Palace of the United Nations in New York had to be suspended.

As the blackout dragged on, the highest authorities became aware that they were facing a dangerous disruption of order.

Breaking reports indicated that panic and disorder were increasing in the streets. 'It's chaos! Only buildings like this one, with their own power plant, have electricity. But there are only a few!'

But what was really most serious was that, in addition to the panic and chaos of the moment in the immense area of 207,184 square kilometers ... the radar systems did not function, they were blind! Any aerial projectile could cross our sky at that very moment. We wouldn't be able to detect its presence!

Moreover, we couldn't even send one of our guided missiles to intercept it because the command buttons with which they're ordered to take off depend on electricity to operate. 'It's useless! This immense device is good for nothing.'

Gentlemen, we are one of the most powerful countries on Earth; we spend billions of dollars every year on armaments and fortifying our security systems but faced with a situation like this, we're impotent. A civilization as technological and powerful as ours has an Achilles' heel, a great weakness: electricity. 'Have you all asked yourselves ...'

What good is radar, guided missiles, telegraph, telephone, and television to us? Nothing! Absolutely nothing! Of course! The General is right! 'We can't transmit an order! We can't receive information! This is the bankruptcy of our military and industrial power; everything is paralyzed!'

Gentlemen, please, a little sanity. I need hardly remind you the government to which we all belong is fully aware of the terrible importance of electricity.

In each power plant, there are large electronic brains and computers in charge of watching every centimeter of the large wires that conduct the electricity. When one of the electronic brains discovers, for instance, that one of the wires is being overloaded with electricity, and that there's a danger it will melt ... 'Line five is in danger.'

Automatically, that load is distributed among other branches of the system. The overload is distributed between lines seven and eight. Likewise, the computers indicate when a large fuse has blown, which line it belongs to, and the exact location of the problem. It's the third wire of the Albany system, the problem is located between towers 17-B and 18-B ... 'We'll be right there.'

Even if a malfunction were to occur in an area that was not detected by the electronics power stations, that area is isolated from the rest so it does not cause damage to the other electrical conduction systems.

'We have isolated the Montgomery area, and are proceeding to make the repair.'

Every relay, every fuse, every switch, and every connection is carefully checked each time. 'I'm sure the malfunction will be corrected any moment, and we'll have electricity again. The blackout will only last an hour.'

Unfortunately, those optimistic calculations were not confirmed by reality. 'My son, my son! I can't see him in this darkness, he ran out of the alley!' The great blackout would last exactly twelve hours, not a tenth of a second more! 'Frank, come on, we have light!'

When the electricity was turned back on, the most precise electronic chronographs did not need to have their needles touched to keep indicating the hour with great accuracy. 'It's marking the exact hour!'

We should demand an explanation. The light began to flow through each wire in the same mysterious way the electricity was interrupted. An uncommonly long blackout like that one, which had curiously lasted twelve hours, provoked uncertainty in a large sector of North America.

Let responsibilities be delineated. Ordinary citizens, business people, and journalists asked the government of the United States for an explanation about what happened. 'Telegrams continue to arrive, sir. They demand that we clarify what happened.'

Here end the words of the aforementioned article. There is no doubt that a few extraterrestrial Men on their own were capable of paralyzing the whole electrical system of New York and many other cities, as was said.

Let us see then the fundamental difference between Man and the intellectual animal; obviously, all people consider themselves to be in the hominal kingdom, or human, to be more specific.

Diogenes with his lamp walked the streets of Athens—with a lighted lamp—searching for a Man but he did not find one.

Pilate presents the Christ, saying, “Ecce Homo” (behold the Man).

How difficult it is to attain the human state! And yet everyone believes themselves to be Men. Man is the true king of creation, and can perform marvels great as that of the New York blackout.

We are sure that a half dozen Men could paralyze not only the electrical system of the United States but all the activities of the whole world too.

A half dozen authentic, legitimate, and true Men could take over planet Earth without firing a single shot, and in a matter of minutes.

Q: How could half a dozen Men achieve that?

A: Oh, distinguished young lady, are you surprised by my words? You should comprehend that the true Man is a

King of Creation; just one Man could, in a matter of seconds, disintegrate the planet Earth and turn it into fragments that would revolve around the Sun.

Q: Could that kind of Man accomplish so much without being self-realized?

A: When are you going to understand me, distinguished lady? It is not possible for a Man to exist without self-realization; what is happening is that you are thinking in a mistaken way, you assume these intellectual animals who populate the face of the Earth are Men; therein lies your error.

There are surprising possibilities in the intellectual animal; the rational homunculus commonly called man is a chrysalis within which Man can be formed. Have you understood me?

Q: And what can we do for Man to be formed within that chrysalis?

A: Oh, distinguished young lady, in this basic book, I cannot give you those explanations; come to our Gnostic studies; study our books; read The Perfect Matrimony, The Mystery of the Golden Blossom, The Three Mountains, Parsifal Unveiled, etc., etc., etc.

Q: So, based on what you're telling us, are true Men dangerous?

A: Listen to me, noble lady; these legitimate Men (in the most complete sense of the word) really are not as dangerous as you suppose them to be. If they had wanted to make the planet Earth explode into pieces, they would have done it already. If they had wanted to invade and enslave us, they could have done it already many centuries ago. True Men do not kill, enslave, or invade nations or worlds. What does happen is they visit to help us; they are compassionate, and they will assist us in the supreme hour of the great cataclysm. After the tremendous catastrophe that awaits us, when the Earth is in a position to support life again, they will establish on this transformed planet a new civilization and new culture.

The intellectual animals are puzzled by the fact that these extraterrestrials do not fit in much with our environment, nor do they submit to this obsolete and degenerate order of things.

Q: With what you're telling us then, true Men don't exist on this planet? Are all of them extraterrestrials?

A: Distinguished young lady, listen to me; there are also Men on our world but you have to look for them with the lamp of Diogenes, it's very difficult to find them and, nevertheless, you can see they all presume to be Men.

Q: What is the purpose for our becoming a real Man?

A: Listen to me, distinguished young lady. Emerging from the chrysalis, the butterfly flies joyfully into the sunlight; so too, from the humanoid chrysalis, a real, legitimate, and true Man can emerge. This is the original purpose of divinity. Otherwise, you would be against God's purposes. He wants each of us to be converted into a King of Creation; only thus can we enter the kingdom of Melchizedek, only thus can we enter Paradise. This is why Jesus Christ came into the world. He was determined to help us. He wanted each of us to become a King of Nature. Now you will comprehend why we should bother.

Q: What is supposed to have really caused the New York blackout?

A: I will gladly answer the question of the gentleman who is listening to me. It has been completely and officially proven that the New York blackout was caused by an extraterrestrial cosmic ship. As a result of that event, the United States government created a scientific department with the evident purpose of investigating this question of flying saucers.

It is necessary to remember that moments before the blackout, two United States fighter planes armed with high-powered missiles were in pursuit of two flying discs. One of the strange devices disappeared in infinite space, while the other one descended over the power plant in Syracuse. Later, the blackout happened, and this was completely proven. Airplanes armed with rockets were of no use, and the best weapons of the United States were useless.

Q: What was the reason for the blackout, and what was the message?

A: I will answer the gentleman. Listen to me; if they had wanted to reduce New York to ashes, they could have done it in a matter of seconds but they are not perverse. They look at this race of intellectual animals with infinite compassion. They were pursued by fighter planes wanting to destroy them. Of course, they were not given a beautiful welcome, they were not received as brothers, and yet the only thing they did to show the intellectual animal the state of unconsciousness and weakness in which he is was to give him a demonstration, paralyzing the whole electrical system of New York, trying to make the rational beasts comprehend the shameful state in which they are.

At this time, after such an event, the rational animal should be studying himself, eliminating his passions and vices, purifying and sanctifying himself by repenting.

Q: Do you consider that this is how we Earthlings have understood it?

A: Distinguished friend, it is obvious that this animal kingdom has its consciousness asleep, and that is why it is far from comprehending the teaching that was given to them.

Rational animals are not Men but they believe themselves to be omnipotent, powerful, super-civilized, and super-developed, etc.

Q: Could you explain to us scientifically what they did to be able to produce the blackout?

A: Oh, distinguished gentleman, this is a superior type of electrical science. I firmly believe it is possible to divert electricity by directing the current in a different way, altering the polarities, inverting the charges, and so it is ostensibly possible for any city to be left in darkness.

To study this carefully and then present the teaching publicly would be like handing over the weapons of Man to rational beasts. What would such beasts do with this kind of knowledge? Place your hand over your heart and answer me the question. Do you understand?

CHAPTER 12

Extraterrestrials and Apocalypse

Lecture No. 138

Q: Master, I would very much like you to tell us something about extraterrestrial beings, and the importance of their visits to us, the inhabitants of Earth?

A: With great pleasure will we speak a little about extraterrestrial beings. Certainly, the subject of flying saucers has been discussed a lot. There are those who affirm, and those who, for the most part, deny.

Some days ago in Montevideo, Uruguay, a cosmic ship revealed itself via television. Of course, discussions took place and, in the end, the broadcasters stated that what they had seen, and what television would have managed to capture, was just the planet Mars.

So, I was contemplating the image captured by the television antennas in Montevideo, and I could perfectly verify that it was a cosmic ship. That flying sphere had jet propulsion, which the planet Mars shouldn't have; I have never heard anyone say that Mars moves by jet propulsion. The sui generis spherical form, we would say, of that ship seen by television viewers in Montevideo leaves no doubt that it was one of those famous flying saucers.

But this is how things are; current skepticism is terrible and there is no way to eliminate it. This skepticism started in the eighteenth century and has been gathering a sinister hypnotic force. Today it's truly experienced by everyone. Really, this skepticism can be explained only by the psychology of man. Undoubtedly, people are accustomed to lying at every moment, to deceiving. The world is full of liars and phonies.

In such circumstances, it's impossible for the mind to have faith. Where would it get it? How could a liar, an individual who is used to farce and deceit, have faith; where would he get it from?

There is a common expression that says, "A thief believes everyone else steals." And it's true because for the liar everything is a lie, and it's impossible for him to have faith. No liar can have faith.

Faith is something very different; it's something that must be fabricated. Faith is not something that can be achieved, we could say, overnight; it must be manufactured, and is something very different from what many suppose. And to make it, you need study and experience.

Only on the basis of study and direct mystical experience does comprehension come about; and as a result of that, faith emerges.

Jesus said if you have faith as a mustard seed, you will move mountains. But it must be fabricated, that's obvious. It's not something empirical; it's not something that comes just like that.

So, in order not to veer too far from the subject of flying saucers, of extraterrestrials, we have to start by saying that today's people are too incredulous and skeptical because they are liars, phonies. And no phony, as I've said, the liar, the deceiver, cannot have faith nor believe in anything.

If, for example, a flying disc appears and they see it, a few days later there is no lack of hypocrites who throw a helium-inflated balloon with a flare into space, who make signals with a reflector, and all this to try to deceive people ... and instead of increasing faith, it increases disbelief.

Therefore, the question of extraterrestrial ships is so contentious. I will limit myself, then, to explaining or narrating what I really know, what I am certain of, not what others know but what I myself have experienced.

One day, one evening, for example, a broadcaster in this Mexican capital city, Mexico City, made fun of the reality of flying saucers. When that program ended, something unusual happened to me: some young people who were in the street called me to go out and see a cosmic ship. Indeed, I saw it.

All the people, all the young people on the street gathered in a group (as we say around here) to look at the aforementioned ship. And it was really coming quite slowly and quite low. It passed slowly over the roof of my house;

we all looked at it. If I had had a camera, I would have photographed it, but at that moment I certainly did not have a camera.

The curious thing is that in those moments when we were contemplating that cosmic ship, most of the people were making fun of the television broadcaster. Frankly, they mocked him, seeing him as a fool denying what we all had before our eyes in that moment.

So, not only did I see what I saw but so did all the people on that block, all my neighbors. This is a concrete case, something I know for sure.

Another day, we were having coffee with Master G.K. at the Torre Latina. His wife, Doña D., was also with us. We were speaking very pleasantly. Suddenly she looked at a point in space, and it caught our attention. And we certainly saw, a short distance away, a cosmic ship that was completely suspended over the ... at a low altitude, in the capital city of Mexico, in the middle of the day, perfectly illuminated by the light of the sun.

We were amazed to see it completely, as if it had been stuck in the air, perfectly still. Then it slowly moved away. We were able to observe it fully, until it was finally lost in the infinite. This happened in the middle of the day here in the capital city of Mexico.

And as for me, in particular, an unusual case actually happened to me. In the Desert of the Lions, near this city, I witnessed a cosmic ship that landed. Fortunately, I was alone in that spot. There was no problem in getting close to where the ship had landed. I saw it perched on a tripod. Grandiose, marvelous!

A door opened, and the captain came out followed by the crew. Those people of medium height with coppery skin came out.

The captain was wearing on his head, or should we say, his head was covered with the famous ...

Q: (inaudible)

A: No, it wasn't that ... the helmet ... So, he took off his helmet and I was able to talk to him. All this happened to me in the middle of an expanse, in the middle of a grove.

I begged the captain to take me to another planet. I told him, "My Inner Real Being is the regent of the planet Mars, and I have not been taken there physically."

"Is Mars where you want to go?"

I said, "Yes, captain, to Mars!"

He looked at my aspiration as something very meager. Right? He said, "Mars? That's just right there, it's just a step away." I realized these were people from other galaxies. For them, traveling to Mars is like traveling from here to the corner of the neighboring street ...

... They changed radically, and today they are in harmony with infinity. She was amazed that our planet Earth had not been charged by the vibrations of other worlds, in the same way a plant is charged by the aroma of another plant next to it. And the lady was right about this, and she asked me, “Why don’t we see the same thing happening here on planet Earth?”

I simply responded, “It’s a mistake of the Gods.”

But then, reflecting a little more, I said, “It’s due to the karma of the worlds.”

She nodded, and the other lady, her companion, also nodded, and all the crew members of the ship nodded. However, I continued with my aim, I continued with my request. I said to the captain, “I have to write for humanity. I would like to bring the culture, the civilizations, of other planets, and write about it.”

To all that the captain replied, “We will continue to see each other on the path.”

I was very happy with that, it's an extraordinary promise for me. And since then I've been convinced I will join that group sooner or later ... and it's clear I will know how to take advantage of the opportunity.

In the future we will have to bring here, to the planet Earth, mineral and vegetable elements, and even organic principles or living creatures from other inhabited worlds. We will write about that, about the cultures or civilizations of other planets.

With that we will make the human mindset turn toward the cosmos and, of course, by doing so, will attract the powerful energies of the entire infinite megalocosmos through which it will be possible for Earth to be charged with those vibrations. In that way we will help this planet and this humanity.

So, for some, cosmic ships may be a more or less accurate theory. For others, it may be a hypothesis; for others, it may be a laughing matter for laughter or sarcasm and nothing more. But for me who has seen them, for me who has been able to talk with inhabitants of other worlds, extraterrestrials are a fact.

After the conversation I had with those intergalactic people, they said goodbye very kindly, they got in their ship. I moved back a certain distance so the radiations couldn't cause me any harm. The ship took off from the ground at great speed and was lost in the infinite.

So, whatever people say, whether they believe it or not, is not something that interests me. I'm sure about it, I've seen them, I've talked to the crew members, and that's all.

Q: Master, what is the objective of extraterrestrial beings when they visit us, what is their aim?

A: Well, they know the critical times we are living at present. In these times we see nothing but "wars and rumors of wars" (Matt 24:6), "Jerusalem surrounded by armies" (Luke 21:20), as the great Kabir Jesus warned us in his prophetic sermon. They know we are living an apocalypse; they are not unaware that we are heading into the last hour.

It's good to know that every great human race ends with a cataclysm. The first race on the planet did not end with a cataclysm because it corresponds to the Sacred Island, which was the first race to appear on this globe and will be the last to cease existing.

Today that continent is covered by thick ice at the North Pole. But the second Hyperborean continent did go through great cataclysms, it was devastated by strong hurricanes. The third great race, which was the Lemurian, ended with cataclysms, with the Sun of Fire-rain (as the Aztecs called it) and strong earthquakes; it had its erupting volcanoes and seismic shaking. The fourth race, the Atlantean, finished with its own cataclysm. We already know that Atlantis sank to the bottom of the ocean that today bears its name, with all those millions of inhabitants who populated it. Our present race, the fifth, the Aryan Race, is not an exception, nor is it the crown. Unquestionably it will end, as the Aztecs say, with fire and earthquakes.

At present, the Earth is trembling. Here, near Colima, runs the famous rift that has the whole of California in danger. It's an underwater crack, an underwater fault, that threatens California. There's no doubt that California will be swallowed up by the Pacific Ocean. North Americans already know this, it's not something strange, it's already known.

And the whole bottom of the Atlantic and Pacific are full of tremendous cracks. Those of the Pacific are the deepest; there are some that already bring water into contact with the liquid fire that exists in the interior of the Earth. And the result is that pressures and vapors are forming and increasing from instant to instant, from moment to moment. And when those pressures and vapors intensify, earthquakes will become more and more frequent, more and more intense.

So, it's not surprising that we will soon begin to see major movements of land on the bottom of the oceans. The great cities of the world will fall to dust like card castles; there will be no remedy!

Right here in our country, Mexico, we are seeing more and more new volcanoes appear every day. So, the time is coming when the end for humanity will be near. This great human race will perish by fire and earthquakes. This has been duly announced by the great sages of ancient Mexico, and their prophecies will be fulfilled to the letter.

Furthermore, humanity has reached a frightening, terrible level of perversity, the evil of the world is so serious it has reached unto heaven. Under such conditions, it's not possible for this human race to continue living. Obviously, it has to be destroyed.

For now, the only thing we can assure you is that a series of terrible and frightful tragedies are already taking place: wars and rumors of wars, epidemics, unknown diseases, monstrous crimes for which there is still no legislation, which have not been studied by current codices due to their very monstrosity. And what's more, there are not even forms of punishment that can truly suffice to punish such crimes because the forms of punishment that exist today are utterly delightful in the face of such monstrosity.

So, the world is walking along paths of disaster; it's a humanity that no longer has love, is terribly perverse. And the result has to be catastrophe. The extraterrestrials know this, they try to help us, they want to serve us, they want to get in touch with humanity, they want to make their word heard but when they try, they are shot down or chased with fighter planes, or they are received with cannon shots; there is no love from humanity. Hatred everywhere is terrible.

And they want to apprehend them and have them in hand, to tear them to pieces in the laboratory to know what they're made of, to confiscate their ships, taking them away to arm themselves with atomic bombs or to invade other inhabited worlds. It is a hopeless humanity, one hundred percent monstrous. And they know it, and want to serve us.

However, the reality is that some of them live on planet Earth. Mixing among humanity itself are people from Mars and other worlds, camouflaged as earthlings, living as earthlings, working to earn their daily bread, and so on and so forth. They do not say they're from Mars or from Venus because they'd be believed as crazy or they'd be killed.

At the South Pole, there's a city that's underground. A blue race lives there, which comes from the Blue Galaxy. They keep their cosmic ships intact, with which they can travel through the unalterable infinite; they feed on underwater elements—algae, clams, fish, etc., etc.

At the precise time and moment, these people will enter into activity to help humanity concretely. We have been told they will go into the streets to call upon the people to repent. They are extraordinarily spiritual.

So, cosmic ships come and go through the unalterable infinite. Thus, it's absurd to suppose that Earth is the only inhabited planet. Really, our planet Earth is like a kernel of corn in space. Why should it be the only one with life? In such an infinite universe, do you think the Earth is the only one that's inhabited? This would be absurd, wouldn't it? This would be like thinking with a medieval mind, it's something similar to the statements of the people of the Middle Ages who thought the Earth ended at Cape Finis-terre, and that it was flat, square, etc.

So, we must have a little bit of comprehension. There are other inhabited worlds, and people from those other worlds visit us. What happens is that we are so barbaric; we truly are, we could say, cannibals in tuxedos. And instead of receiving them with open arms, well, they're received with cannon shots, we send fighter planes to pursue them, as has happened in the United States.

Q: Master, and when that hour, that final time, arrives, will those extraterrestrial beings in their ships take some human beings away?

A: Certainly, at the right moment, at the indicated time, they will take from Earth the best, the most select; they will save those who are truly worth saving. In any case, they are ready to serve and help us at the last moment.

Q: And how will those extraterrestrial beings know which persons deserve to be saved?

A: Well, first of all, they are authentic Men in the fullest sense of the word, and they know intellectual animals so well. They have, we would say, precise instruments to be able to locate anyone, any person, no matter where they live, or where they are.

So, for them there is no ... before their eyes it's not possible to escape. They know very well who they have to save; they know which one deserves to be sent. They have their spiritual faculties entirely developed and possess extraordinary instruments of science through which it's possible for them to locate any person on planet Earth.

Q: Is it not a problem for men to live on other planets, we could say, in respect to what they have to breathe, eat, and so on?

A: The inhabitants of Earth are not adapted to other worlds. But those who are taken to other planets, and are also saved on other worlds, are given the means to live intelligently. They, the inhabitants of other planets, those who visit us, have enough science to protect them properly.

Q: Master, regarding the Sun—our planetary system's sun—so far, scientists say it's temperature is millions of degrees, and life is not possible there. What can you tell us about that?

A: Scientists think the Sun is a ball of fire; there are others who think it's a cloud of helium. All this is one hundred percent absurd. The crude reality of the facts is that the Sun is a gigantic world that has rich mineral, vegetal, animal, and human life. On the Sun, the North Pole and the South Pole are covered with ice, enormous ice-laden mountain ranges, glacial seas, deep oceans, moderate climates, warm climates, you name it ...

So, it's not the fireball that men of science speak of. If we climbed a mountain like Everest, we would die of cold, and if we lived without a space suit and without any protection in interstellar space, we would freeze, we'd freeze to death.

The higher we are, the colder it is; that has already been proven and with it the fact is corroborated that the Sun is not a ball of fire, as is supposed. Because if we approach a flame, the closer we get, the warmer we feel, and finally, if we stick our finger in it, well, we get burned. You can't ... the higher we are, the colder it is, and if we place ourselves on a very high mountain we can die of cold, frozen.

So, the Sun is a world. What happens is that it has rich mines of uranium, of radium, etc., etc., etc. And since it is gigantic and its mines are powerful, the radiations those mines emit are extraordinary. And it's clear that when the radiation reaches the upper layer of our terrestrial atmosphere, it is decomposed and analyzed, and finally converted into light, heat, color, and sound.

Thus, it is our earthly atmosphere that decomposes the vibrations of the Sun into light, heat, color, and sound. It is therefore not true that the Sun is a ball of fire. It is immense, yes, and thanks to that, thanks to its radiations and to the enormous size it has, it can, with its radiations, supply light, heat, color, and sound to the planets of the solar system that rotate around it. But I repeat, it is the atmosphere of the worlds revolving around it that breaks up the rays of the Sun, converting them into light, heat, color, and sound.

These rays, in themselves, finding no opposition of any kind in infinite space, are entirely cold ... and I understand that some have done so. For example, the great astronomer Garavito in Colombia did it. He studied the Sun with black glasses, and he also corroborated what we are saying, that there are enormous mountains full of ice, and the North and South Poles are loaded with ice. So, this is something that is demonstrable, it can be studied, confirmed, by studying it with black lenses.

Q: Master, in relation to those interplanetary ships, how is it possible, as you said a moment ago, that you can travel from Earth to Mars in an instant? Is it that they change coordinates, dimensions, to travel, and you change coordinates when you go beyond the speed of light?

A: Unquestionably, that's the way it is. These ships travel at a speed greater than that of light. Obviously, the three-dimensional world of Euclid is within the speed of light, in the range of the speed of light. Let's remember Einstein's formula, "energy equals mass multiplied by the speed of light squared."

So, energy is the result of a modification of mass times the speed of light squared. Beyond that mathematical equation we find ourselves with the fourth coordinate, with the fourth vertical.

Unquestionably, the cosmic ships submerge into the fourth coordinate to travel enormous distances.

It's possible to submerge into the fourth coordinate when we instantly cross the speed of light barrier, which is 300,000 kilometers per second.

The intellectual animal mistakenly called man, or the rational mammal, as is said, has already been able to invent supersonic planes that cross the sound barrier but still have not succeeded in breaking or going beyond the speed of light barrier. As soon as you manage to instantaneously cross this speed of light barrier, you will also instantaneously penetrate the fourth vertical. And only by moving in the fourth vertical is it possible to conquer space.

But to move in the fourth vertical, there is first the need to plot the fourth coordinate. So long as the fourth coordinate is not plotted, we will have a completely three-dimensional geometry. The day we can have a tetra-dimensional geometry, or a meta-geometry, with it, it will be feasible to elaborate a physics of four dimensions. On that basis, with such a physics, it will be possible to build tetra-dimensional ships capable of instantly crossing the speed of light barrier.

Obviously, those ships would be a complete success if they were propelled by solar energy. I don't believe liquid fuel can ever conquer infinite space because gigantic fuel rockets would be needed to travel even one light year away. Now, when the distances are greater (10, 20, or 100 light years), what would we transport so much fuel in?

Obviously, a superior force is needed. I understand that with solar energy it would be possible to conquer infinite space on the condition of building ships based on the fourth coordinate, on the fourth vertical, ships that are four-dimensional, we could say. I understand that those cosmic ships that travel through space, and are crewed by extraterrestrials, are instantly submerged within the fourth vertical to travel through infinity.

Q: Master, those inhabitants, that blue race you mentioned that lives under the North Pole, what planet or world do they come from?

A: I have already said they come from the Blue Galaxy, and they themselves have very beautiful blue skin. They are people of very high spirituality and great science, and have to fulfill a beautiful mission in the future, before the great cataclysm; they will appear in all parts and places preaching the doctrine, teaching people, and calling everybody to repentance.

Q: How do you think humanity will react, since seemingly they will then also try to put them in laboratories, and take out their blood, and study them to see how they're formed?

A: It is possible that they will achieve ... because we have already seen the case of one of their blue men who was living in ... here a ... mine, who knew him personally, informed me about him, found him in a restaurant. I repeat, in ... a man of blue skin ...

Q: And people took it as a normal thing or ... ?

A: Absolutely normal ... the crude reality of the facts is that in these times extraterrestrials will inevitably have to become more and more visible. Bear in mind, we're in the Kali Yuga Age, the Iron Age, and it's obvious this age always ends up in the abyss.

The Iron Age is symbolized by Saturn's clock. Time is suspended, the clock does not run, as if to say the end times have arrived. On one side of the clock, the specter of death appears with his scythe for it is time to reap lives.

A race when the Kali Yuga arrives ends with a cataclysm. Let's think for a moment about the Lemurians; that great continent existed in the Pacific Ocean. It was essentially volcanic, and in the end, as we know, it perished by fire and earthquakes.

A very powerful civilization, its Golden Age was precious. Obviously, during that age, Lemurian hermaphrodites appeared everywhere and populated the Earth. The holy gods, dressed with human bodies, made that Earth a paradise, an Eden ...

Later, after that great period, humanity was divided into opposite sexes. That's when it is said Eve was taken from Adam's rib. Then came reproduction by cooperation. Prior to that, reproduction was by gemmation—a given egg was detached from the ovary of the Lemurian hermaphrodite, who was male and female at the same time. It is clear that this egg was already fertilized because the creature that expelled it was a hermaphrodite, it had both sexes.

Then it was incubated in the same way as a broody hen. In short, it was also by means of heat; normally, the being kept the egg close, and the moment arrived when, we could say, the child was formed and finally came out of its little shell (that was the time of reproduction by gemmation).

Later, with the division of humanity into opposite sexes, everything changed. The woman continued to produce the egg but this egg was not born fertilized, it had to be fertilized from outside, and was fertilized by the man, by the male. Prior to that, there was no need for this fertilization, the egg was born already fertilized. Then humanity abused sex; at first it respected it, then it desecrated it, and fell into animal generation.

During the Golden Age of Lemuria everything was beauty and splendor. During the Silver Age it still lived ... and love. In the Copper Age of Lemuria there began to appear on Earth, here, the ... strange manifestations of the earthlings, anomalies. In the Iron Age, the Lemurian Race accelerated down the path of degeneration, then ... in a great cataclysm, preceded by many minor cataclysms. So, that is how Lemuria disappeared forever, leaving Easter Island itself (which is off the coast of Chile) and Australia, and all of Oceania, etc., as the remains of that old continent.

In Lemuria, the descent of cosmic ships from other worlds was normal. In Lemuria, they were not so barbaric as to attack navigators from infinite space. They normally landed on planet Earth, and entered into communication with the whole of humanity.

Then, after the disappearance of the Lemurian continent, Atlantis emerged with all its splendor. It also had its Golden, Silver, Copper, and Iron Ages.

During the Golden Age of Atlantis, wisdom shone. During the Silver Age, there was also great beauty. Strange manifestations, anomalies of humanity, began to appear in the Copper Age. But in the Iron Age, mankind degenerated again, then the great cataclysm came, and then Atlantis sank in the Atlantic Ocean with all its people.

At present we are in the Aryan Age. We had a Golden Age, a very beautiful age. The Golden Age flourished in the dawn of our race, back on the Central Plateau of Asia, back in Europe before the Druids, in that ancient Europe, we would say. Then came the Silver Age. Then came the Copper Age, and then the Iron Age.

And if we want to be more specific, let's study it in a more specific way. The Golden Age itself appears in all its splendor in the Central Asian Plateau with the first sub-race of our great Aryan Race (the Golden Age). We see the Silver Age perfectly manifested in South Asia, in the Pre-Vedic era. We see the Copper Age emerging among civilizations of Egypt, Chaldea, Persia, etc., etc. And the Iron Age began to emerge with the Greco-Roman Culture. So, we are in the Iron Age.

Obviously, the Iron Age is the Kali Yuga. It is said that it came about because of the death of Lord Krishna in India. But let's not stray too far away from the extraterrestrials and cosmic ships.

In Atlantis, they normally landed in Samlios, and all the people of Atlantis were in communication with people from other worlds. During our Aryan Race, cosmic ships normally landed in Tibet, usually near the great mystery schools in India and Babylon, and in Egypt, etc.

Times have passed, and we are in the middle of the Kali Yuga. We have already seen that the Iron Age of any race ends with a cataclysm; we have seen it in the Lemurians, and we have seen it in the Atlanteans. We are not an exception; our race is on the eve of a tremendous cataclysm. This human race will be destroyed as Atlantis was destroyed, as Lemuria was destroyed, and the extraterrestrials know it, and they intend to help us, to visit our world and to watch over us.

So, the very fact that they have now become so apparent should invite us to reflect.

Obviously, we are at the beginning of the end; we are living Saint John's Revelation.

There are two ways to live the apocalypse—one, individually, and the other collectively. Individually, we live it when we do the Great Work of the Father. We are realizing each of the seven chakras with the aim of achieving the esoteric resurrection within and becoming ineffable beings, self-conscious and perfect individuals.

But there is also another way of living the apocalypse—in collectivity, in which each of the seven seals are realized for the whole humanity. The way this matter is being processed is in the form of epidemics, catastrophes, wars, and hatreds ... just as it is in Saint John's Revelation.

And finally, when the seventh seal is torn open for all humanity, then comes the disaster of disasters, the final catastrophe and submersion of all humanity into the bowels of the Earth, involuting in time. Of course, this is after people have lost their physical bodies.

But even though this last page of the apocalypse is painful, it has a good purpose. Even though the whole apocalyptic process of humanity is painful, it has an objective—to create the Golden Age.

Just as, for instance, when the adept lives the apocalypse within himself, he does it with an objective—to create the Secret Master in himself, to achieve the resurrection of the Secret Master in himself, and to become an Ineffable Being. In the same way, nature, by making humanity live the whole of Saint John's Revelation, does so with an objective—to create a new Golden Age.

A new Golden Age could not be created within rotteness or by rotteness; no resplendent civilization could be created while this one, which is really rotten, exists. The destruction of this entire civilization, the geological change of our planet, the radical modification of the human species, is needed, and it is achieved through cataclysm, through chaos.

Millions of human beings will perish, they will inevitably disincarnate, they will involute in time within the bowels of the Earth and, of course, in the end they will emerge again.

New evolutionary processes through the different kingdoms of nature will begin again, and in the end a new human race will appear on Earth. That race must appear. Bear in mind that not all the human beings who populate the world will be destroyed, a small nucleus will be saved. And with that small nucleus the new race will begin, the future race, which will live on a transformed Earth, which will create a new Golden Age, an age of spirituality and splendor.

But this perverse race has to be destroyed. A Golden Age could not emerge among these perverse people. The total destruction of what now exists on Earth is needed so a new civilization and culture can be created. That is precisely why the extraterrestrials come; they have to work with this whole order of things, they have to cooperate with great nature. They will only help the one who ... they will be in charge of establishing the new civilization, the new culture, on Earth.

Whatever nucleus there is will work in accordance with them; the one who is saved will work in accordance with them. And the new civilization corresponds to the New Jerusalem of which Saint John speaks to us in Revelation.

Peter himself says the earth and all that is in it will be burned up and that the elements will melt in the heat ...

Thus, “the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up,” (2 Pet 3:10) says Peter the Apostle in his Second Epistle to the Romans, and there will be new heavens and there will be new lands.

And on a transformed Earth will appear a new humanity, a Golden Age. But this age we have today, the Kali Yuga, is going to the bottom of the precipice.

There are many signs that indicate this. First of all, the antichrist has already appeared, he is active everywhere. He is not a man, as some suppose. There are those who believe the antichrist was born in Asia, and there among ... the world ... that’s false.

The antichrist is perfectly defined in the great universal Epistle of Saint John the Apostle. Saint John, the Apostle, says in his great universal Epistle the one who denies the Son does not have the Father either, and that one is the antichrist.

In Hebraic Kabbalah, the Son is Tiphereth. The Hebraic Kabbalah, for example, tells us there is a superior triangle, Kether, Chokmah, and Binah. The product of that superior triangle is the Logos, the Father who is in secret. It tells us there is a second triangle in us, which is Chesed, Geburah, and Tiphereth (Tiphereth being the Son in us, in other words, Tiphereth is the actual Human Soul or Superior Manas or Causal Soul that Theosophy speaks to us about; the Christic principle par excellence, which makes us truly human).

Of course, not everyone has incarnated him—as I’ve said in my books—but those who incarnate him, in fact incarnate the Christ in themselves. Those who succeed in fabricating the astral, mental, and causal bodies, and by doing so incarnate their Human Soul, are true Christs in the most complete sense of the word.

So, this center of gravity called Tiphereth in the Hebraic Kabbalah is the Son, the Human Soul.

Then comes the Holy Spirit of the Kabbalah, which is fixed in the Cubic Stone of Jesod. Netzach, Hod, and Jesod are the magical triangle, the foundation of which is Jesod, the Philosopher’s Stone.

Okay, but let’s not get off topic. Let’s think about Tiphereth of the Kabbalah, about the Human Soul. Whoever denies the Human Soul is, in fact, an antichrist because they do not have the Father either. This is defined by the Apostle; he who denies man the principles of soul and spirit is the antichrist.

And who are those who deny the principles of soul and spirit? Are they not perhaps materialistic scientists? Therefore, materialistic science is the antichrist, right? And the antichrist is active in all countries of the Earth. This is the sign that the end is coming because the antichrist is active everywhere, here, there, and everywhere ... for spreading his materialism and atheism everywhere.

The antichrist performs miracles and deceptive wonders; this is already foretold, yes, and even prophesied, the antichrist is coming, and everybody kneels before the antichrist, and says there is nothing like the antichrist!

Today people say no, only scientists know today. And everyone says scientists ... people love only scientists, only scientists know about science. But these scientists and the ... as a whole, constitute the antichrist (the one who performs miracles and deceptive wonders, and all the people follow them). And the great whore is also prophesied in St. John's Revelation.

And they will be cast into the false prophet's lakes of fire and brimstone, which is the second death. The false prophet is the antichrist, all this materialistic science, from it they will be cast into lakes of fire and brimstone, which is the second death. What more proof do they want?

Signs from heaven are in abundance. At present, we see that a comet has arrived. It will be more visible in this January. It is a foreign body inside the solar system's organism. Bear in mind that this system looks like a man walking through the infinite, and if a foreign body gets into this organism, well, something has to happen, that's obvious. It's the same as if a strange element gets into our human body, something has to happen to us.

So, there are many signs from heaven that indicate to us that the end times have arrived. Humanity, at this very moment, is living its apocalypse. And the end time of the Apocalypse will be with the Seventh Seal.

Q: Master, what other apocalyptic signs do we have at this moment to guarantee to us that the end is near?

A: Those we are seeing today: wars and rumors of wars, plagues, famine, and desolation. Jerusalem surrounded by armies—just as Jesus said in his prophetic sermon—earthquakes, terrible eruptions, cosmic ships, the comet that has arrived, etc., etc., etc.

All these are proof. What more proof do we want? From now on, different cataclysms, unknown diseases, wars, and misery will be processed. Children will rise up against parents, and parents against children, some against others, and everyone against everyone. Earthquakes will become more and more frequent, and erupting volcanoes will appear everywhere by the dozens.

Finally, the inevitable will happen. You have been told about the planet Hercolubus, and it is coming. Some believe it revolves in a distant orbit over a period of 6,666 years. We have investigated this planet further; it is gigantic, and we do not see it revolving around any orbit, as is supposed; it's a planet dislocated from another solar system, coming through infinite space, traveling at extraordinary speeds, heading precisely toward Earth's orbit.

Its approach will be frightening. There will be a darkness that will last three days; the fire of volcanoes will erupt in an extraordinary way everywhere. The whole Earth will be covered by erupting volcanoes, earthquakes will intensify frightfully, raging waves never seen before will hit the beaches, people will walk through the streets insane, and there will be no remedy ...

Finally, there will be a collision of worlds. That mass is frightful, gigantic; obviously, it will attract the planet Earth to itself, it will attract it, it will take it out of its orbit, and the two masses will collide. But before this, Hercolubus will have consumed the whole Earth, and there will be a fire that no one can extinguish. The atmosphere will be burned, rivers will come out of their beds, and seas too (to tell the story).

The small group that will be secretly saved will be taken to a secret place but this belongs to the mysteries. That is why we are forming the Army of World Salvation. Let's see who will want to march with us for the initiation of the New Age of Aquarius.

There are those who say this New Age will be of peace, harmony, and beauty because it is ruled by none other than Aquarius, sign of fraternity and love, science and knowledge. Yes, but they do not realize that Aquarius, at the same time, is the House of Uranus, and Uranus is a revolutionary planet, one hundred percent explosive, and it will bring unusual, unsuspected events.

And as you see, facing the constellation of Aquarius is Leo, Lion of the Law. They say Leo is facing Aquarius—so say the Theosophists—that is, Leo rules the heart, there will be nobility, frontiers will disappear, the Earth will be a paradise, and so on. Poor astrologers do not want to realize that Leo means nothing other than the Lion of the Law!

It is the Lion of the Law who goes out to meet the Aquarian humanity. Here is the Lion of the Law that is going to rain fire on the Earth. It is the Lion of the Law who will punish the great harlot whose number is 666. Modern astrologers do not realize this.

Bear in mind that Leo is a fire sign. There's a reason why we've placed the lion with five stars on the shield of our Gnostic Movement, it's because they symbolize the fifth, the Aryan Race. We could say the Lion of the Law goes out to meet the fifth race. So, what the Aztecs wrote when they emphatically stated the Sons of the Fifth Sun would be destroyed by fire and earthquakes will be fulfilled. Leo is coming precisely to fulfill this prophecy in its rigorous exactitude.

Now we are going to explain why, specifically, information about cosmic ships abounds so much, why extraterrestrials come to Earth so much, why they fly through space. They know what is going to happen to us, they want to help us, they want to aid us, they are vigilant.

People from other worlds are going to witness what is going to happen to this planet Earth. This world will be punished. What will happen here will be recorded in the chronological annals of wise people living on other planets. So, those wise humanities will preserve in their chronicles, in their history, memories of this planet (a world that was punished for its perversity).

I am speaking for people ... because at this time it's not possible my words would be very well heard. I am convinced the people of today do not have faith because they are liars. People who are used to lying from instant to instant, from moment to moment, who are deceitful phonies cannot have faith, it's not possible that they have faith.

Therefore, when I speak to them like this, it seems impossible to me that they would accept what I am telling them.

But I comply by saying it, and it is recorded on that tape so those who listen may know what is coming to the terrestrial humanity.

Q: When that circle of privileged people go to live on other worlds, on other planets, will they follow a similar life in terms of time, or will they follow the normal course of every human being, from when he is born, grows, reproduces, and dies?

A: People that are going to be secretly saved will also have a place where they will also live secretly. Those who are taken to other planets naturally cannot be taken to planets contrary to their organisms but rather to similar planets where they are governed by the same number of laws.

This does not mean that those who are saved will refrain from crossbreeding with people from other worlds; they will mix. But the result, the product, of these crosses will be precisely the ones who come to populate the Earth, or to repopulate it, when this chaos that's coming has passed. It's clear that chaos is now coming to Earth which will last millions of years. And of this perverse civilization, no stone will be left unturned.

The Aryan Race will disappear like the Atlantean Race disappeared, like Lemuria disappeared with all its inhabitants. This is not the first race that will disappear nor will it be the last. This is normal in the course of the history of the worlds.

Q: Will the future planet Earth, after the collision with this other universe, not a universe, but with this other planet that is going to collide with us, become a new Earth from the fusion of these two?

A: Yes, a transformed Earth of tomorrow, a changed Earth, where there will be new heavens and new seas because, as the Apostle Peter said, the sea that is gone is no longer. Everything will be different.

Q: And it will be inhabited by the sixth race.

A: By the sixth root race, which will live on this transformed planet.

Q: Master, as children we learned the definition of faith was that which we do not see because God has revealed it to us. Does the same concept prevail here?

A: We Gnostics go to the point; we Gnostics cannot stay in mere theories or simple suppositions. Faith does not come ... it's not something of, we could say, random types of things or things like that, no. Faith has to be constructed, it has to be created. And it's only possible to fabricate it on the basis of study and experience.

It's obvious that on the basis of study and experience, as a result, comprehension appears, and from that comprehension, faith emerges in turn. But it's something that has to be fabricated slowly.

Because someone may have acquired faith in one point and not in another. Therefore, each point must be properly studied, comprehended, and experienced before having faith. Thus, we could say faith is acquired gradually and analytically, it's a process. It's not achieved through empiricism, nor through absurd assertions or negations. It must be produced, it must be worked on.

There are points in cosmogony where people might not have faith, and there are points, for example, about the Law of Karma in which people might have faith. And another person might have faith, for example, in anthropological matters and not have faith in other aspects.

So, it's necessary to create it didactically and dialectically. It's a process, we could say, of orderly creation ... When a powerful faith is forged, marvels are achieved. Faith is not something empirical, it's not something that comes overnight, no. It's something that has to be constructed, that's all.

Q: So then, the concept of faith is like when a person says, "I attest to that," in other words, he has absolute knowledge of what he is affirming?

A: Yes, obviously. If someone has faith in something, he can affirm it with full certainty. But if one does not have enough faith he would not be able to affirm it with full certainty, and in order to have faith one needs to fabricate it.

Q: Is faith, then, a product of knowledge and comprehension?

A: Knowledge and experience! And as a result of study and experience, comprehension appears, and finally, as a product of the comprehension itself, there is faith.

Q: Why has humanity received the most important teachings in a veiled form?

A: Well, in ancient times, teachings were given only within the secrecy of the temples, and when they were written, they did it in the form of hieroglyphics. Today times have changed. Now you can't tell us it isn't published. We've written books, we're giving them away, a lot of money is being spent on advertising, and much more will be spent in the future.

Today we intend to give the unveiled knowledge to the entire human race, and to spread it throughout the whole wide world. For it is written that before the final cataclysm this Gospel would be spread. It has not yet been fully disseminated. We will spread it.

Those who believe the Gospel of Christ has already been published in all countries of the Earth are wrong because the four Gospels are written in code. They are four texts of alchemy and Kabbalah. They cannot be understood if one does not know alchemy and Kabbalah. So, since they have not been unveiled, no one knows them. And since they are not known, neither have they been divulged.

Therefore, we need to unveil them, and publish them, and make them known to all the countries of Earth. Once we have achieved this, the end will come, the final event will come, which will be from one day to the next, when you least expect it. It will be by fire, and no one will be able to extinguish that fire. Understood?

Q: And will these Gospels be known to all mankind?

A: It is written that our Gospel will be known everywhere. We will unravel the secret doctrine of the Gospels, we will unveil them to make their truths known in all countries of the world. When we have achieved this, the final cataclysm will come.

Q: And logically, humanity will not accept those Gospels ...

A: Humanity is convinced the Gospels have already been disseminated but that is not true; they have not been disseminated because they are in code. When the Gospels have been revealed, and spread throughout the face of the Earth, we can then say they have been disseminated but not before.

Q: Can we consider that the only Gospels are those of Jesus Christ (Jesus of Nazareth)?

A: Well, the Doctrine of Jesus Christ—his four Gospels—comprises all doctrines of the world. Because the Gospels of the Christ Jesus are also in the Gospels of Lord Krishna, and also in the Gospel of Lord Buddha, and in the Gospel of every great Avatar of the world; it is the same doctrine. By unveiling the mysteries in the four Gospels, the Gospels of all other great masters are unveiled.

But the Christian Gospel has not been divulged. It has not been disclosed because it has not been unveiled. People do not know its secrets, mysteries, and teaching even though they believe they know it. Different prophets, pastors, etc., who presently exist in the world are convinced the Gospel is already known. There is no such thing, it is not known. But we, the Gnostics, are going to make it known; we are going to give the teachings contained in the Gospels to the whole world. We are going to teach them publicly.

Q: Do the political and social philosophy of Jesus Christ's Gospels coincide with other Gospels such as those of Buddha, Krishna, Quetzalcoatl, and other Christs?

A: The Gospel is always the same. The Christic Esoteric Doctrine has not changed; it remains the same for all times and ages. It is the word of the Logos, and it is what is, what has always been, and what will always be.

Q: ... will it correspond to the Universal Christian Gnostic Movement before the final cataclysm?

A: The Gnostic Movement is the Army of World Salvation. It will have to serve as a nucleus to initiate the Golden Age (it will consist of the people who will be secretly saved). We shall guide these people to certain safe places; there will be an exodus and exoduses like in ancient biblical times. We will see who will manage to remain steady. Those will be the ones who will come to serve as the core of the New Golden Age. And I repeat, there will be exoduses.

The Gnostic Movement is the Army of World Salvation, the call to form a new civilization and a new culture. But we'll see who the select ones will be, the ones who are going to stand firm, the ones who are going to dissolve the psychological “I”, the “myself”, the “oneself”. That’s what we’re going to see.

Q: Only the members of the Universal Christian Gnostic Movement or those other people who, though calling themselves something else, also agree with our ideas?

A: It’s not only about ideas but also about works. Because “faith without works is dead.” (Jas 2:20) James, Patron of the Great Work, says specifically that faith without works is like a man who looks in a mirror, and then turns his back and leaves. It’s not enough to hear the word; we need to be doers of it within ourselves. Many may listen to us but if they are not doers of the word within themselves, they have done nothing.

I repeat, we are interested in facts and works; we want workers of the Great Work. Those are the ones who will come to form the nucleus of the New Golden Age.

Certainly today, as we are speaking here, there are three million Gnostics in all America, among them members, simple supporters, simple readers, and so on but we are interested in works. It’s not enough that one day someone says, “Yes, Lord, I love you, Lord, I’ll follow you.” The important thing is to act, to realize the word in oneself, to dissolve the ego, to build the superior existential bodies of the Being, to incarnate one’s Soul principle, to sacrifice oneself for humanity, etc.

If one does not do the Great Work, it’s useless, for example, to say, “I love you, I’ll follow you.” What is needed are works.

Q: What other philosophies practice the works proclaimed by Gnosis?

A: Well, naturally, the tantric schools of the Eastern world, those that advocate the tantras and tantric initiation. As long as they dissolve the ego, they can naturally form ranks with us to create the new civilization and culture.

Tantric Buddhism of Tibet, the Sufis of Mohammed’s religion, the true initiated rabbis, masters of the schools of regeneration who work psychologically, if they carry out the work, they will come with us to form the New Age. No matter what their denominations are, if they work in accordance with the Great Work, if they do it, they will come with us.

At the foundation of any tantric school of regeneration, or of Sufism, or of the Whirling Dervishes, etc., etc., there are, have been, and will always be the three factors for the revolution of consciousness. Those who work with those three factors will form the blessed people, the people who will form the New Golden Age.

Q: ... In the Great Work, what are the requirements to be in the Great Work?

A: You already know the basic requirements—dissolution of the ego (because we must put an end to all our psychological defects), fabrication of the superior existential bodies of the Being (obviously, this is achieved through transmutation of sexual hydrogen SI-12), sacrifice for humanity (it's love, raising the torch high to illuminate the path for others). We can work in the Great Work with these three factors for the revolution of consciousness.

Q: What are the ways to carry out the third part, that is, service to humanity, how can one serve humanity?

A: Everyone serves according to his own aptitudes. The physician can serve by healing the sick, not only those who have money but also those who have no money; by assisting not only the rich but also the less fortunate, without discrimination and disinterestedly. The preceptor, by making his students know the basic principles of Gnosis. The one who works, for example, as an engineer, by making solid buildings for the people who live in them, helping those who do not have anything to build their little house so they can build it, serving disinterestedly where service is needed, etc., etc.

Q: In short, to make of every activity an apostleship?

A: Everyone must make his profession an apostleship, and that way we can serve humanity. Now the best, the most exalted, the most dignified way is in the dissemination of the Gnostic teachings, in making these truths known to humanity, and in raising the torch high to illuminate the way for others. This is the greatest, most dignified, and essentially edifying thing.

Q: Teaching Gnosis is one of the most difficult obstacles that Gnosis has, just by stating the foundations of this revolutionary philosophy, people immediately defend themselves, or use humor as a weapon, or some way to avoid even having more information. In what way should a person who is teaching Gnosis work so the teachings can be taught and be fruitful?

- A: It is not only a matter of catechizing but also of knowing how to catechize. One must know how to teach. So, one has to comprehend the environment he moves in to teach with accurateness and according to the psychology of the people around you. This is how one can work better. It is not right to give the teachings where they do not want to listen to it.

For instance, I have a particular system of teaching—when I want to give the teachings to someone, I give him a book. If that person does not comment later on the book, or if he makes fun of it, etc., I never speak again to that person about the teachings.

But if that person reads, studies, understands the book, if the doctrine contained in it stirs something in him, I continue to give him the teachings. That is my system. So, you can proceed in the same way.

Now, public lectures are something else. I meet with people in halls to give them the teachings, and you could do the same. Obviously, whoever comes to a hall to listen to our teachings has some inquietude. But I would not talk about the teachings in a room where people don't want the doctrine because it would be absurd.

So, it is not enough just to teach but to know how to teach. To comprehend the environment we move in, to know how to spread the doctrine intelligently. That is all.

Q: Another system would be the example of life, right? Because when many people see a person's behavior, they ask, they inquire, what philosophy, what leads them to act in this way.

A: Of course, every individual who is disseminating the doctrine must teach by his own example. What would be the use of talking about chastity if we are fornicators? How would we dare speak against alcohol if we are drunkards? How would we advocate for charity if we are not able to give alms to a wretch?

So, not only word but also works must serve as a basis for the teachings. Word and works. We must demonstrate the doctrine that we advocate with facts. That is all.

I send my greetings to the Gnostics of Colombia. I hope that each and every one of you will become true propagators of the teachings, that each of you will bring people and more people to our sanctuaries. Also, I yearn for each of you to dissolve the psychological "I", to concern yourselves more with the death of the "I", the "myself", that you destroy, that you annihilate, the animal ego. I advise all Gnostics of Colombia to work in the Forge of Cyclops, and to create the superior existential bodies of the Being in order to incarnate your Soul principle.

We would be very, very happy to see more and more Men on the face of the Earth. At present, there are intellectual animals. We need Men, and they can only be created by making the superior existential bodies of the Being and incarnating the Soul principle.

CHAPTER 13

The Final Catastrophes and Extraterrestrials

Lecture No. 135

Beloved Gnostic brethren, dearest brethren of the Universal Christian Gnostic Movement in the Summum Supremum Sanctuarium of the Sierra Nevada in Santa Marta, Colombia, South America, I am addressing you ...

I want you to understand the critical moment in which we are living. I want you to march with decisive steps on the path of the razor's edge. Remember that our motto and watchword is Thelema, Will.

And as the Revelation of Saint John states:

I looked when He opened the sixth seal, and behold, there was a great earthquake; and the sun became black as sackcloth of hair, and the moon became like blood. And the stars of heaven fell to the earth, as a fig tree drops its late figs when it is shaken by a mighty wind. Then the sky receded as a scroll when it is rolled up... and [they] said to the mountains and rocks, 'Fall on us, and hide us from the face of Him who sits on the throne and from the wrath of the Lamb! For the great day of His wrath is come; and who is able to stand?’ (Rev 6:12-14, 16-17)

One day, my beloved brethren, while out of the physical body in the state of nirvikalpa samadhi, I placed myself in transcendental mystical contact with the third aspect of Maha-Kundalini, Proserpine, Hecate, Coatlicue, the blessed goddess Mother Death, terror of love and law.

Then, she took the floor to say, “Everything is already lost, the evil of the world is so great that it has already reached heaven. Babylon the Great, mother of all types of fornications and abominations on Earth will be destroyed, and that whole perverse civilization of vipers will not have one stone left unturned.”

“Oh, my goodness!” I answered. “So, we’re facing a dead end?”

After a few minutes of deafening silence, the adorable one exclaimed, “Would you like to make a deal with me?”

“Yes, yes, yes,” was my answer.

“Then, you open the dead end, and I’ll kill them!” Such were her words.

Now, it is ostensible that deal is underway; while we deliver the message for the new Aquarian Age, she eliminates them. The word of Divine Mother Nature is ever fulfilled.

It’s worth mentioning with some emphasis the one million deaths in Pakistan in 1970, and the seventy thousand deaths from the earthquake in Peru in the same year.

Scientists from Colombia University have publicly reported there is a gigantic fracture in various oceans, resulting from diverse telluric activities of past years. It is at least ninety-thousand kilometers long, with an average width of forty kilometers, and an average depth of two and a half kilometers. The rift runs from the Atlantic to the Indian, and from the Antarctic to the Arctic. It borders the American continent as well as the Asiatic one, leaving the entire Pacific Ocean in the center of this huge ring of underwater faults.

It is obvious and manifest, my dear Gnostic brethren, that these tremendous underwater cracks mentioned above have their fundamental base in the Antarctic polar cap near the South Pole. It is extremely intriguing that it is precisely there that hot waters have been found surrounded by polar ice at many degrees below zero.

That tectonic plate boundaries depart from Antarctica and travels very close to Cape Horn is something that has already been duly proven. The fact that it subsequently forks into two branches, one heading east and the other getting lost in the west, is extremely interesting.

We have been opportunely informed that the plate boundary in the Pacific Ocean follows a sinuous trajectory bordering the American continent, passing along Chile, Peru, Ecuador, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Guatemala, Oaxaca and Guerrero in Mexico, the Gulf of California and Seattle in the United States, Vancouver, Canada, and Alaska. We have been told that plate boundary splits completely at Alaska, continuing along the famous Aleutian Islands, and a branch traverses through the whole of Alaska.

The earthquakes in Taiwan, which are in the center of the peninsula, have been very special, such as the one that occurred in March 1964. It has been clearly explained to us, and has already been proven, that the branch from the Aleutian Islands goes to Tokyo, Japan, touching the islands of Sapporo, Hokkaido, Oahua, Waohua, Kawailoa, and others.

We have learned with complete clarity that two secondary plate boundaries branch from Japan toward Hawaii. The main plate boundary continues to the Philippines, New Zealand, and returns to its point of departure, the mysterious Antarctica, thus closing, my dear Gnostic brethren, a terrible and dangerous circle of completely apocalyptic characteristics.

It is good for you to carefully note all these details. It is necessary for you to comprehend, to be aware of what this means. Let us now talk a little more; let us speak about the plate boundary of the Atlantic. I ask everyone to pay very close attention.

We can be absolutely sure the Atlantic plate boundary seems to have had its origin in the Norwegian Sea; that it passes by Spain, Portugal, North Africa is something that should not surprise us in any way. We are very sure that such a plate boundary ends close to Portuguese Guinea.

The eastern branch, the extraordinary plate boundary that runs eastward in the world, is born—as it has been already stated—in the mysterious Antarctica, and passes by the Cape of Good Hope, Madagascar, and the Arabian Sea, to conclude in the Indian Ocean.

Any judicious analytic study done on this system of oceanic plate boundaries shows us in a palmary and evident way that the maximum danger is in the Pacific. There is no doubt that the Pacific plate boundary will soon generate horrible world cataclysms. There is no doubt that the places most punished by earthquakes and tsunamis have been located precisely in the Pacific Ocean, corresponding in parallel to North America, Colombia, Asia. For instance, the Aleutians are located on a line approximately in the northern 50th parallel; Japan is almost at the same parallel as San Francisco, California.

It is intriguing, my dear brethren, that now successive earthquakes are developing in the Californian peninsula, causing damage especially to Los Angeles and other surrounding towns. Formosa, Taiwan, and the Gulf of California are on the Tropic of Cancer. The Philippines and Guatemala are on the 32nd parallel; New Zealand and the Republic of Chile are on the 42nd parallel.

It should not surprise us that there is a relationship between each plate boundary. It should not be strange that the enormous plate boundary threatening the entire California peninsula at this moment is intimately associated with the whole system of plate boundaries of the Pacific Rim.

The sea is the cradle and grave of lands, islands, peninsulas, continents, etc., etc. However strong and stable all the different geological aspects of this world might seem, they can be completely transformed by the underwater system of plate boundaries. We do not need to make suppositions; it is urgent, my dear brethren, to know that in some places along these nine to ten thousand kilometers of underwater plate boundaries, the Earth's crust has thinned and has already reached the point of putting the fire of Earth's interior in direct contact with the sea's water.

The igneous element of the world's interior is in unrest in these moments. Pressures and vapors increase from instant to instant. Unusual volcanic activity is intensifying throughout planet Earth because these pressures and vapors seek the point of least resistance. It is logical, my dear brethren, that all these pressures and vapors from the interior of this world on which we live logically seek the weakest point. The Earth is trembling, the earthquakes will become more and more intense until the day even the most resistant layers will explode. All the cities and towns of the world will fall to ashes like card castles, and a very strange sound will come from the depths of the oceans.

It is written with words of fire in the Book of the Law that there will be as many dead as the sands of the sea, and there will be no remedy. This world has entered a great crisis, my dear brethren; you must comprehend this.

The entire Earth will gradually be covered by vapor. The planet Earth is entering full volcanic activity everywhere.

Craters will release deleterious vapors, ash, fire, the sky will darken, obstructing sunlight, the cold will become a frightful freeze. The polar ice, dragged by terrible tides, will navigate to the equatorial zone, cooling the atmosphere. Decompensations in the air, deadly cyclones, will destroy entire towns, torrential rains, storms, etc., etc., etc. Obviously, it will be impossible to live under such circumstances. The Aryan Race, that is, our race, will reach its apocalyptic end.

The Iron Age in which we are now wisely coincides with the electrochemical cycle. This cycle began with the Greco-Roman culture, and will conclude in the year 2500. The cataclysms of the end of Kali Yuga have already begun. The black age will end at the frightful precipice.

My dear brethren, hear the words of our Lord the Christ, “when you hear of wars and rumors of wars,” says the Great Kabir, “to not be troubled; for such things must happen, but the end is not yet.” (Mark 13:7) So, in all this there is a long process, which we obviously are already in. Then the Great Kabir said, “nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom.” (Mark 13:8) Obviously, we are already seeing this, “And there will be great earthquakes in various places, and famines and pestilences; and there will be fearful sights and great signs from heaven.” (Luke 21:11)

My dear brethren, an apocalyptic series of earthquakes has already begun, and there is hunger, and known and unknown illnesses everywhere. The terror has been frightful in several places, and we already see great signs in the sky, extraterrestrial cosmic ships and mysterious sidereal phenomena.

“And there will be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars; and on the earth distress of nations, with perplexity, the sea and the waves roaring.” (Luke 21:25) Gigantic waves will lash the beaches, and from the ocean depths a strange sound will be heard.

Atomic wars and the abuse of nuclear energy will produce decomposition of the atom chain, and scientists will not be able to control atomic energy. The outcome of all of this will be frightful because all the destructive potencies of nature will be unleashed, and tidal waves and earthquakes will be intensified, and there will be no remedy.

Truly I say to you, this generation, this root race, will not pass, until all this happens. All events of the end times will be sealed with a collision of worlds, the Earth will inevitably collide violently with another planet. After that apocalyptic event, only chaos, fire, and water vapor will remain; our world will go through a gigantic transformation before being habitable again. The seed will be saved with the purpose of creating the future great sixth race, which will inhabit a new land.

Peter, the great disciple of Jesus the Christ, said, “the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in which the heavens will pass away with a great noise, and the elements will melt with fervent heat, both the earth and the works that are in it will be burned up.” (2 Pet 3:10) Peter continues, saying, “Looking for and hasting the coming of the day of God, because of which the heavens will be dissolved, being on fire, and the elements will melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to His promise, look for new heavens and a new earth in which righteousness dwells." (2 Pet 3:12-13)

Obviously, such new heavens and earth will only be possible after the gigantic cataclysm that is approaching. I am referring to the collision of worlds with which all world catastrophes will end.

Gigantic events are happening at this moment. As time passes, we will be surprised by many other events. It is necessary to know, my dear brethren, it is necessary to understand that we are also being helped. It is obvious that in order to save the seed, special help is needed.

Cosmic ships will come to the Earth to save the "children," those who really deserve it. They are already being taken secretly. There are people of our kind living on other planets of our solar system. They, that seed, will be brought back to the planet exactly at the time when the Earth will be ready for new life.

It is also obvious, my dear brethren, that time has expired for most people. We have taught all of you that each soul is assigned only 108 existences. If the cycle of 108 expires without us having reached the intimate self-realization, we will enter the submerged involution within the infernal worlds beneath the epidermis of the Earth. Thus, we precipitate ourselves onto the descending, involutinal path. There we shall have to recapitulate the animal, plant, and mineral states. And then, after having gone through the second death, after having reduced the ego, the “I”, the “myself”, the “oneself”, to dust, the souls rise to the surface. It is precisely on the surface, under the light of the sun, where new evolutionary processes begin, which must necessarily begin from mineral until reaching man.

You already know this, you were already informed. Do not be surprised, my dear brethren, that time is already running out for most of today’s people. Do not be surprised if I tell you the end times have arrived. In these moments, millions of human beings are entering the infernal worlds, and all illuminated ones of the planet Earth and other planets in space know this. Therefore, catastrophic events must inevitably be precipitated.

When this happens, when there is the collision with the other planet (which, as I have already told you, is coming), today’s people will have to live within the infernal worlds. Yes, those who endure the chaos will spend all their time there. Afterwards, those souls will evolve, as I said, from mineral to man. They will ascend through the vegetal and animal states, and later, having reconquered the human state, they will form a new people, a people in which the ego will not be developed. These people will be governed by wise individuals. The mysteries of Egypt, Greece, Babylon, India, ancient China, etc., will return to Earth. Everything will be processed gradually through time; divine kings will return to govern their people.

Do not be surprised, then, that the future Earth will have light and wisdom. The critical moment is the present one, my dear brethren; these are terrible times. On other worlds of infinite space, the situation we are going through is known, and it is clear that we will be given help. Those who deserve it will be saved.

Men from Ganymede will come, and they will teach us to comprehend the fourth dimension from a scientific point of view.

We will also receive help from the Blue Galaxy; Men from the Blue Galaxy will walk all town and city streets helping us with the doctrine, teaching us to understand it. Men from the Blue Galaxy provided great assistance to humanity in the past. Think for a moment, my dear brethren, about what the pyramids of Egypt are. It is obvious they were not erected by the Egyptians, as many suppose, but by Atlantean giants. Only thus can we explain to ourselves how such stones were transported through the desert. However, that the engineers who built such pyramids would have been assisted by other people is true; they were assisted by the Men from the Blue Galaxy. Men from the Blue Galaxy were precisely those who came in marvelous ships that had the form of red fish. They helped Chaldea, they helped Assyria, Persia, etc. Presently, my dear brethren, subterranean, submerged cities exist in the South Pole in which Men from the Blue Galaxy live. They are willing to efficiently help us in the immediate or near future.

It is also very true, very certain, my dear brethren, that subterranean cities are hidden under the polar ice of the South Pole. Yes; do not be surprised that these Men, the color of the blue sky, have civilizations there.

And, what shall we say about the North Pole? At the North Pole, there are still survivors of the first root race, survivors who ... our history, at the critical moment in which we find ourselves. They too have subterranean cities; these are the glacial Men, extraordinary Men, Men from the first age.

Intelligent fish exist within the depths of the seas; they will be discovered within a short time.

And we will also receive help from other galaxies, my dear brethren. Men of wisdom will come from the Pleiades who will dedicate themselves to cleaning Earth's atmosphere, who will study infectious microorganisms because they know a day will come when we will need that help.

As I have already told you, we will receive from Ganymede not only complete information about the fourth dimension but also their support in many other fields of science and wisdom. Inhabitants from diverse planets of the infinite are ready to help us.

If presently there are laboratories that Russians and Americans have put into orbit, it is also true that there are other types of cosmic laboratories in orbit; those put into orbit by extraterrestrial people. Artificial blood is manufactured in such laboratories because the time will come when it will be necessary to have blood banks in orbit in the cosmos. Yes, people from other worlds are ready to help us even in the field of medicine itself.

Brethren, meditate on all this, meditate and comprehend the terrible moment in which we are living. Having profoundly understood all this, knowing all this, we must also know the necessity of spreading Gnosis, of opening the dead end, of giving the wisdom to everyone so they can escape from this horrible inferno in which we are.

The International Gnostic Movement advances victoriously on all battlefields; nothing and nobody can stop us on this luminous and triumphant march. Our Movement has only one objective: to initiate the New Aquarian Age amidst the august thunder of thought.

Uranus is the regent of the constellation of Aquarius, and that is something profoundly significant, my dear brethren. Uranus governs the sexual glands, and this is why the Gnostic Movement clearly teaches the sahaja maithuna, sexual magic, the esoteric foundation of the New Age. Uranus is also a primeval king of submerged Atlantis, that which we can call Ur-anas—primordial fire and water that determined the first lunar-solar cult of the androgynous IO. Here precisely is where we find the root of the Chaldean astro-theurgy, and therefore Uranus, the Asura Maya, the first Atlantean, is but the first revealer of the sexual mysteries.

The sacred mantra OM MANI PADME HUM is equivalent to the gods Sun-Moon, phallus-womb, in which the marvelous key to the Great Arcanum is found. IO-PITAR is the Sun, the phallus, OM MANI is the womb, the Moon.

OM MANI PADME HUM is the lotus flower with its masculine and feminine poles submerged within the genesic waters of the first instant. Any teaching without the sahaja maithuna is in fact extemporaneous for the New Age of Aquarius. It is impossible to enter the great mysteries of the White Lodge without the doctrine of Uranus, the Asura Maya, the first revealer.

The Hebrew Kabbalists revealed the cubic stone of Jesod precisely in sex, in the creative organs, and this is transcendental. It is obvious that this sephirotic stone was also analyzed by the great medieval alchemists. By all means, the famous Philosopher's Stone of the ancient sages is shown with absolute crystal clarity. To edify is indispensable, my dear brethren, but it must be done upon the living stone, based on sex.

To edify means to construct, to erect, to lift, to raise, to work, etc. All the pseudo-occultist and pseudo-esoteric types of schools advise an edifying and essentially dignifying life but, unfortunately, they do not give the key; they are ignorant of it. There are many builders, people from all the schools and creeds of the world are dedicated to building. The cubic stone of Jesod, located by the Jewish rabbis in sex, is the foundation of any authentic edification. Unfortunately, millions of builders reject it.

Jesus the Great Kabir said, “[Have you never read in the scriptures,] ‘The stone which the builders rejected Has become the chief cornerstone. This was the Lord's doing, and it is marvelous in our eyes’? Therefore I say to you, the kingdom of God will be taken from you and given to a nation bearing the fruits of it. And whoever falls on this stone will be broken ..." (Matt 21:42-44)

Peter, Patar, the great hierophant, said, "Behold, I lay in Zion A chief cornerstone, elect, precious, And he who believes on Him will by no means be put to shame.' Therefore, to you who believe, He is precious; but to those who are disobedient, 'The stone which the builders rejected, Has become the chief cornerstone, And a stone of stumbling, And a rock of offence' ..." (1 Pet 2:6-8)

My dear brethren, this is precisely sex, a stone of stumbling, yes, and a rock of offense, you know this. Millions are the builders who abhor it; all types of builders want to escape from sexual magic saying that stone is the word. However, they do not want to recognize that the bedrock of the verb is sex. Rare is the builder who does not look for documents for his evasions; they want to reject the cubic stone of Jesod.

The revolutionary Gnostic Movement does not want escapism; it teaches the mysteries of sex, we want to build our interior temple upon the living stone, never upon sand ... We follow the path of the Fourth Way, the marvelous path ... Remember, my dear brethren, the cross is phallic, the vertical beam is masculine and the horizontal beam is feminine. In the crossing of the two is found the key to all power.

We have been entrusted with the noble mission of unveiling the path, making it public for the first time in the light of day. There are those who say there are three paths, there are those who emphasize the idea of seven paths, there are those who swear there are twelve paths. We solemnly affirm in the name of truth that there is only one path, and that is the path of sex.

Since everything revolves around sex, it is clear the Gnostic Movement is originating a true cultural, spiritual revolution in the whole world. Gnosis is the root of Christianity, my dear brethren, the living flame of Buddhism, the ... of the Koran, etc. Our doctrine opens the dead end so we can take advantage of it, and for the true benefit of every person of good will. Remember, my dear brethren, our motto is Thelema, that is, Will.

If someone says there is another path aside from sex, you can be sure he is lying. There is no other way. Fortunately, we have been entrusted with the sacred mission of unveiling the path. Everybody swears they know the way but we can affirm that the path is not known by anyone in the profane world today. We know it. We are going to unveil it, and that's what's exciting. Those who think they know it are mistaken. We are going to deliver in full all the data that exists about the path. Now, you must comprehend your sacred mission, my dear brethren, understand it profoundly.

Our Movement advances victoriously, and you can be sure that nothing and no one will stop us on our luminous and triumphant march.

My dear brethren, the hour in which we find ourselves is indeed critical in the fullest sense of the word. A transcendental vision I had some time ago comes to mind. I left the physical body, yes, dressed with the astral body. In the superior worlds of cosmic consciousness, a Guruji invited me to see the end times. And what I actually saw, my dear brethren, was atrocious, so very terrible. Wars and rumors of wars everywhere, terrifying wails all about, hospitals crowded with people, horrendous things. I walked through the streets of a gigantic city; then, I found many cars, cars powered by nuclear energy, cars floating in space at low altitude.

This coincides exactly with the vision the Sybil of Prague had; quite similar, of the same sort. And then, my dear brethren, I saw a hollow glass tower reaching up to heaven, a living symbol of the Tower of Babel. Made of glass, which means it can be easily shattered, a fragile tower, as you will witness later through time. And through that tower ascended and descended different types of ships, ships and rockets, my dear brethren, powered by atomic energy. And I saw that one could easily buy a ticket to travel to the Moon, Mercury, Venus, the Sun, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, any planet of the solar system. I thought to myself, that's the Tower of Babel which has been built.

I make an aside to tell you, my dear brethren, that the same thing happened in Atlantis. When the Tower of Babel was built, when one could be transported on any atomic ship to whichever planet of the solar system one wished, a revolution of the Earth's axes occurred, the seas exceeded their limits, and Atlantis was swallowed up. You know about this, it was the Universal Flood. But putting aside that small digression, let's go on with the story ...

My dear brethren, I then asked the Guruji, "What year is that?"

He answered, "The year 2500."

In other words, the final year of the electrochemical era, the final year of Kali Yuga. And I entered, brethren, a huge laboratory, and saw there the great potential of terrestrial atomic energy symbolized or allegorized. An enormous giant appeared lying on the ground, a living symbol of this great atomic potential. And scientists were trying to extract nuclear energy from the brain and heart of this giant. They feared, however, that the giant would wake up, and could cause great damage.

Yes, as I mentioned, that giant is sleeping. They knew he was asleep, and in the end, the colossus woke up. Yes, the atomic potential of all nature was awakened, decomposition of the atom chain proceeded, and finished off the scientists and the entire world. Earthquakes were precipitated, and gigantic waves never seen before furiously lashed the beaches. Horrors were heard everywhere, things impossible to describe with words were seen. Radioactivity had totally... the phosphorus of the brains, and people seemed crazy, out of control, and dramas never seen before. And I observed, brethren, I smelled a strange *cheiro*¹ coming from the deep ocean waves. And there, in the distance, I saw the famous Red Planet the scientists talk about; yes, I saw it.

Such a world is sailing across the unalterable infinite heading precisely toward the world on which we live, toward the Earth. And as the planet approached, it became bigger and bigger, and grew more and more, and looked like a radiant and terrible sun. And there was a moment when it covered the entire horizon. Then I comprehended, my dear brethren, that the collision is inevitable; so, I understood it, and the collision certainly happened, it crashed.

Then nothing was seen, my dear brethren, but fire and water vapor. All lands disappeared; the two planetary masses merged into one, and the waters of the Earth's seas and the seas of that world merged and overflowed terribly, flooding the whole planetary mass. And all that had life perished, no city was left standing, my dear brethren. This is how it ended, this is how the Kali Yuga will end. In that mystical transcendental experience, I raised my arms imploring, I begged the divine to let me see the future Jerusalem. And I saw the future humanity.

This, therefore, my dear brethren, is what await us, the future. It is clear that for the Earth of tomorrow, those new heavens and new lands, the seed (that which is now being taken to other worlds) will be brought back to Earth. This is how the words of the Prophets will be fulfilled with complete exactitude.

So, the times we are awaiting are very terrible, my dear brethren, and that is why I invite you to work intensely in the Great Work of the Father, to open lumisials everywhere. By working for others, by helping, by working on ourselves with the rough stone, by transforming it into the perfect Cubic Stone, we will reach the intimate self-realization of the Being.

Brethren, scientists have been able to confirm with complete accuracy the issue of the planet that comes to collide with ours. News has been given everywhere ... it has been published, there is a book out there that talks precisely about the Red Planet. Clever men are preparing themselves with atomic bombs to push it away; they want to push that world away from our orbit by means of explosions. They calculate the event will occur around the year 2400 but do not have precise information about the date. We know exactly that the event will occur in the year 2500.

We are working, my dear brethren, for nothing less than to initiate the Aquarian Age, we are working to save those who can be, those who want to be saved but it is necessary that we give form to our Gnostic Movement, that we organize it better and better, that we establish the three chambers. Our Movement must have exactly three chambers, each lumisial must have the three chambers for the instruction of our students. Our Gnostic Centers received a name in the very pure garden of the divine language, which flows like a river of gold running under a dense forest of the sun; that name is lumisials.

So, it is necessary to know, for the sake of the Great Cause for which we are fighting, that every Gnostic lumisial has three chambers, or should have them:

1. Exoteric or public chamber
2. Mesoteric or middle chamber
3. Esoteric or very secret chamber

In ordinary terms and to simplify it a little, we say First Chamber, Second Chamber, Third Chamber.

It is the duty of the First Chamber to serve the honorable public without distinction, without divisions of sex, race, class, creed, or color. It is not necessary to be consecrated to enter First Chamber. Anyone passing on the street can enter First Chamber. The teachings of First Chamber are based on our kindergarten books of Introduction to Gnosis: Elementary Booklet, Beyond of Death, Gazing at the Mystery, etc., etc., etc., as many kindergarten books will be written. Also, the sacred Christian, Mohammedan, Buddhist, Persian, and Mayans scriptures will be consulted in First Chamber. The Bible, the Koran, the gospel of the Buddha and many others will be consulted. Sexual magic should not be taught in First Chamber, to prevent people who have not heard of it from being scandalized. Nor will there be a liturgy for this First Chamber since it is obvious the people are not prepared.

Well, with this I say goodbye to all of you, wishing you, my dear brethren, that the year of 1972 will be one of successes, '71 and '72 will be successes for all of you. Well, now remember constantly and daily our Ritual phrase, "May all beings be happy, may all beings be joyful, may all beings be in peace.”
